dedication

The Class of 1926
dedicates this, the sixty-eighth volume of the Hamiltonian, to

Robert Barnes Rudd

whose sympathetic and scholarly instruction in literature has gained for him the affection and esteem of his college.

foreword

During the last decade Hamilton College has doubled its enrollment, and steadily broadened its curriculum and increased its equipment. It has been the attempt of the editors of the 1926 Hamiltonian to show in graphic form the development during the last year of the Greater Hamilton and to contrast the present with the past by means of excerpts from old volumes of the Hamiltonian.

The History of the Class of 1925

THE Class of 1925 stands now on the wide threshold of life. Four years of work and play at Hamilton, four years' training of mind and body, have fitted us to fight the great battle of existence. Let us go forth from among the lofty elms of this hill-top resolved to carry high before us the banner of our Alma Mater, unsmirched by the smoke and sweat of daily toil; to bear ever within our hearts the standards of honor and sportsmanship and courage and clear thinking that Hamilton has taught us; to voyage down life's broad river, with the valiant ideals of our youth unabated through the long years, and ever before us the desire to make this world a little better place for our having lived in it.....

Thus the Commencement orators, crying their brave platitudes year after year under the warm skies of June. We listen with shining eyes and applaud mightily at the end; for it is a fine thing on Commencement Day to be transformed suddenly from quite ordinary white-knickered Seniors into a gallant regiment of crusaders in shining armor about to enter the glorious battle of life. Only, deep in our hearts there is a troubled aching; and we know somehow, disquietedly, that the brave words have in them more of courage than of prophesy. For life, I take it, is not so much a battle where glorious deeds are done and we win in the end to everlasting fame, as a long and dusty road down which we must all pass, with some little joy and much sorrow; and down its course we must lose youth and its foolish ideals, and strength and ambition and eagerness and love—and other things, perhaps. For things get sadly battered and grimy in this life of ours, and it is not every man who can keep his hold on the honor and sportsmanship and courage and clear thinking that were his in college.....We shall, most of us, dwindle into matrimony; and we shall grow old and stiff and bald, weighed down with a heavy burden of cares and responsibilities, slaves of life at last instead of its proud masters. And in no way will things be as they were when we were young and frivolous and free.....

Now must we cry farewell to our college years: those brief, colorful years that have held in them so much of light-hearted happiness, so much of love and valiant endeavor and sacrifice. Never again can we live as we lived here at Hamilton, gloriously spendthrift of time and wealth; never again will our laughter be as careless and sincere, our hearts as passionately ready to fight for any cause that moves us. Now we who have been comrades, brothers together for four crowded years of our lives must scatter forever into the world, must see our deepest friendships wane and give way before the remorseless attacking of Time and Distance, as shall wane our youth.

PRESIDENT MARQUARDT

The History of the Class of 1926

.....Now the tale runs that although the High Emperor of all the Collegiates frowned severely upon him, the youthful 2-Six advanced unwaveringly up the long aisle between two files of courtiers clad in Finchley clothes, J. Ward shooz, and Prince of Wales hats, turned down at the brim.

The Emperor scowled still more severely, and broke into an intimidating roar.

".....your military accomplishments?" he demanded.

2-Six grinned impudently. "Lay off that old chatter, I beg of you!" he pleaded, "for I fancy that you are aware of what Napoleon did with Europe; draw your own analogy.....But our fighting days are over. Ask something else."

The Great Man stroked his beard.

"How have you fared?" queried his Highness, after some thought.

"Your question," responded 2-Six, "is ambiguous. In Commons?—rottenly!"

"No, no," answered his Majesty, impatiently. "Scholastically."

"Oh," explained 2-Six. "Passably. With our course nearly over, we stand three up and one to go. We have escaped such bunquers as Bull Durham, such deep grass as Bill Shep, such roughs as Bonham, and are now on such a soft green as Thomas."

"And your accomplishments?" asked the monarch, disregarding this amazing insolence.

"Marvellous. The Department has taught us to talk endlessly about nothing, and to do it very gracefully, too.....Heaven pity the first audience unwittingly subjected to a political speech from our most able public squeaker!"

"What else?" demanded the King (as if this were not entirely sufficient!)

"Oh," continued 2-Six, easily. "House-parties have not left us without some knowledge of the feminine.....mind. A very valuable asset, All Highest. Very valuable, indeed."

The Most Sacred prepared a final question.

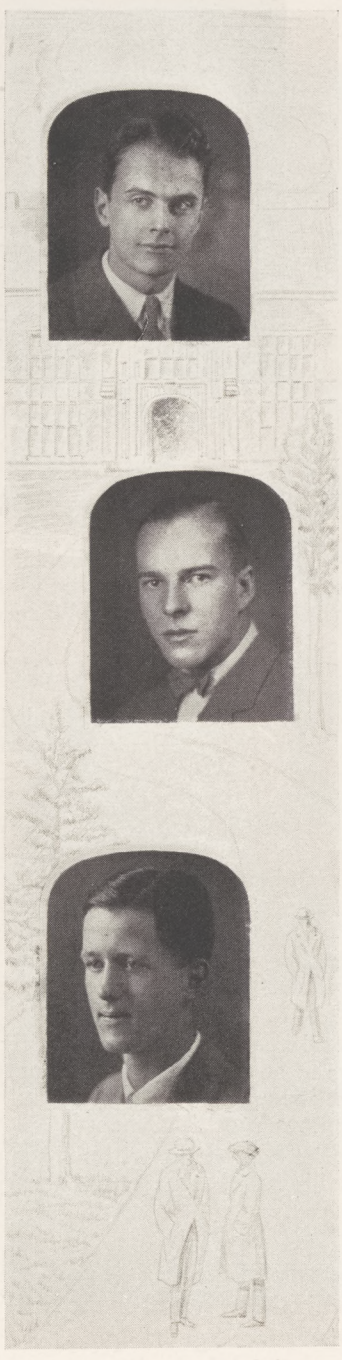
"What—ah—distinct contribution has your class made to the institution?"

2-Six was at no loss to answer: "The first winter carnival ever staged on the Hill!"

For the first time during the session the Great Khan's face lighted up.

"Splendid!" said he, "you are immortalized by my official decree."

2-Six nodded appreciatively. "Thanks.....Camel?"



GREGSTEN ALLEN, ΑΔΦ, Biology Club, D. A. M. Club.

Hinsdale, Ill.
"Pash," "Plugger"

One of the lower limbs of the noted Allen tree. Well known in tennis and trombone circles. Has the best developed legs in the class—ask the man who owns them about their history. If you own an automobile look for the name Allen—it's bound to be somewhere. Greg is a strong advocate of airy English jokes. He has a fertile brain and sure gets banner crops. Did you ever hear of the Statue of Liberty? Well, "Pash" is going to have the girl who posed for that masterpiece up for spring house-party. "Plugger" drives an automobile like a snail going to the electric chair.

CHARLES HERBERT ANTHONY, ΔΚΕ, D. A. M. Club, Soph Banquet Committee, Charlatans (2, 3), D. T. Club.

Gouverneur
"Chuck," "Herb," "Hell Cat," "Dizzy"

C. H. A. means Chases Hard After: women, keys, and drumsticks. Chuck had a period of stares when he was at the Hound Table. He is the reason why the stockholders of the Massena-Gouverneur trolley line are able to live in luxury and ease. He was runner-up to O'Connell in the intercollegiate Grapefruit Throwing Contest. Junior year he attempted to join the ranks of the musicians. The saxophone was pie for him, but Hell for everybody else. However, he found his true field with the drum. "Did I get any mail?" and then do not interrupt him with his weekly message from Dizzy heights. Charles will probably enter the ministry, the foreign ministry.

GEORGE HASTINGS BEBEE, ΣΦ, Life Board (2, 3); Press Board (2,3); Soccer Squad (2,3); Junior Prom Committee (3); Tennis Squad (2); D. A. M. (2, 3).

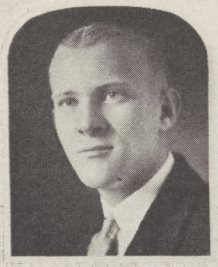
Buffalo
"Beeb," "Smiler," "Attaboygeorge"

Note where he comes from. He has the nerve to admit it, too. "Beeb" is another one of these boys who plays around with Clinton women (Oh, he Dawes, Dawes he?). Favorite expressi n, "Bozo, do you find that.....?" Holds the College standing broad grin record. Only man in his crowd who can manufacture house-party conversation after 4 A. M. Saturday morning. Has an irresistible way of dancing: learned it by pushing a wheel barrow full of cement all one summer. The hero of every tea dance. Has the most peculiar gait in College: economists figure he wastes enough energy with that swinging left arm to electrify New England. Once climbed the Sigs' monument, thereby proving evolution for all time.

HAROLD CHESTER BOHN, ΛΧΑ, Advertising Manager, Royal Gaboon; Life Board; ΔΣΡ; McKinney Prize Declamation, First Prize; Varsity Debate (1, 2, 3).

Dumont, N. J.
"Chessy," "Supe Bohn"

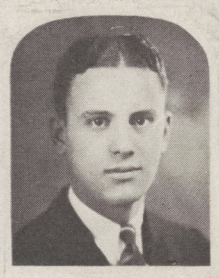
He comes from New Joisey, and claims he doesn't dare learn to speak any other way because if he did they wouldn't understand him when he goes back home. He may not dress the best of any man in college, but he certainly dresses the longest. (Ask Fred, he knows.) He is nervous but expects to be even more keyed up before leaving college. The only change in his coiffure since he has been in college is that there's less of it. He denies the charge that he has posed for Arrow Collar Ads. Nor is he taking up the violin.



WILLOUGHBY FRANCIS BRAZEAU, ΧΒΣ, Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Instrumental Club (1); McKinney Prize Stage (1); Newman Club (1, 2, 3); French Club (3); Credit Average (1, 2); Junior Prom Committee.

Utica
"Bill," "Brazie," "Fauntleroy," "Francis," "Braz," "Doc"

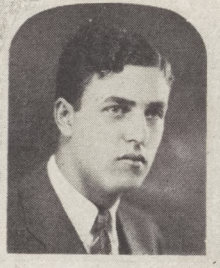
Our soulful little piccolo player woos his musical toothpick like a left-handed man with a hair lip. Takes himself seriously, eats prodigiously, sleeps magnificently, combs his locks perseveringly. Terribly nice. Never takes candy from strange men. Believes in fairies, women, and exercise before breakfast. Attributes his bristling vitality to the practice of giant swings from the chandeliers early each morning. Stoutly maintains the efficacy of talcum, cold cream, and lilac water. Sole representative and distributor for the hot towel and mud pack concession of Hamilton College. Author of that delightful treatise, "How I exist on six meals a day," or "Getting by with only twelve hours sleep."

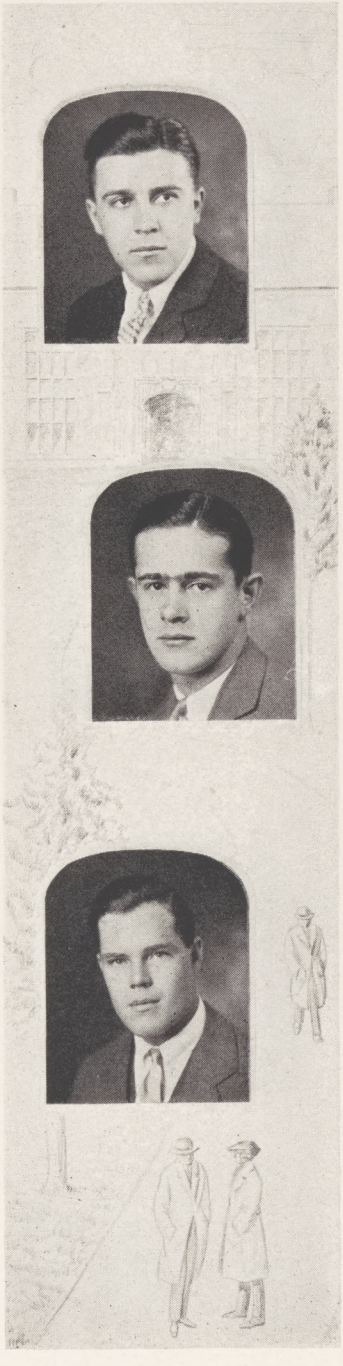


ARTHUR WILLIAM BREEN, ΨΥ, Freshman Baseball Team; Freshman Football Team; Freshman Basketball Team; Interfraternity Hockey (1); Fencing Squad (2, 3); Football Squad (1).

Utica
"Art," "William," "Bones"

William is a great admirer of Cal. Cal likes to see Art, but hates to hear him. Spends most of his time reading magazines. Tells you the next morning he stayed up till two o'clock studying. Art's brother Clark advised him to take German. Bones has followed that advice so well that he is still enjoying the German 4 class. Never been known to feel sleepy. He is a notorious promoter. "Bull sessions" are his specialty. He has been known to pay for the privilege of starting them. Brought a girl to house party freshman year. She thanked him by marrying another man. Proved that English Lit. I is an easy course by almost passing it.





RAYMOND ALLEN BRUSH, ΨΥ, Was Los; D.T.; Honor Court (2); Freshman Hockey Team; Hockey Squad (1, 2); Baseball Squad (1,2); German Club (3); Geology Club (2, 3); Junior Prom Committee.

Huntington
"Raymy," "Satch"

"Satch" is a struggling athlete but is greatly handicapped by being built low to the ground. Such attraction last Christmas in Huntington for our little Raymy that he completely forgot to come back for hockey practice. Prettyman delighted. Here is the striking illustration of the Cheshire Cat. A great lover of flowers, especially "orange blossoms." Has an awful big beard for such a little man. "Satch" is one of the Long Island beach-combers. Like Kelly, he is another math shark, and is now hopeful of passing Math 2. Brownie hopes so too. Slightly misnamed—should have been Hairy. Heavy drinker, smokes incessantly, and is a devil with the women.

ERNEST DAVID BUTTON, JR., XΨ, D.T. Club; Football Squad (1, 2); Freshman Basketball; Freshman Baseball; Royal Gaboon Board (1, 2, 3); Glee Club (3); Hamiltonian Board (3); Class Soccer (2); College Choir (2).

Ithaca
"Ernie," "Butt"

Yes, he is from Ithaca, and he is personally acquainted with all the big men in Cornell University. After the fall house party of his sophomore year, he developed an astounding capacity for letter writing. Abe Johntra was similarly afflicted, and thus the two sufferers built up a David and Johntra friendship. He is the original "glutton for work." His drawings for the Gaboon got him a job as a Professor in Stink Saunder's school. He woke up one morning and found himself a cheerleader: "We want Button." Decided to major in Math but Brownie thwarted him this year.

DONALD CAMERON BYE, ΨΥ, Football Squad (1); Freshman Hockey Team; Track Squad (1, 2); Cross Country Squad (2, 3).

Lakewood, N. J.
"Don"

Don is the true Apollo. Habitué of the Clinton underworld. Has tried for three years to break into Clinton society. Returns unfavorable. Everywhere he goes his fame precedes him. Tried selling Fuller Brushes but found many door bells out of order. Living example of the Book of Etiquette. Is a hard worker at some things. Don is thinking of writing a new dictionary. Talks at all times except during meals. Stayed for two years in the same room because he was too lazy to move. Says if all drinks tasted like beer he'd never drink. They don't.

JOHN WADDELL CHASE, ΣΦ, ΠΔΕ, D. T. Club; Charlatans (2); Tennis Squad (1), Team (2), Captain (3); Sophomore Banquet Committee (2); Kellogg Essay Prize (1); Hawley Latin Prize (2); Royal Gaboon Board (2, 3); Latin Club (2), Secretary-Treasurer (3); French Club (2, 3); Life Board (1, 2, 3); Latin Play (1); Sec.-Treas. Class (2); Press Board (2, 3); Soccer Squad (2), Team (3); Treasurer Newman Club (3); Fencing Squad (2, 3); Editor Hamiltonian (3); Honor (1, 2).

Clinton

"Jack," "Waddle," "The Duke," "Raucous"

Note this picture carefully: the mouth is shut—very, very rare. He spent 18 months in Europe and still thinks that the Rialto in Venice is a movie theatre. He simply hates himself—the way an elephant hates his tusks—tho the house-party women think "that sub-freshman over there is just dear." A wonderful actor: in Fancher's last play he was the "moaning of the wind in the trees outside." Periodically remarks, "that woman sure fell for me!"

CHARLES DOUGLAS CHRETIEN, E.L.S., Fayerweather Entrance Scholarship (1); Kellogg Essay Prize (2); Oren Root Mathematical Scholarship (3); Organist of the College (2, 3); Debate (1, 2, 3); Manager of Debate (3); Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Latin Club (2, 3); M. M. Club (1, 2, 3).

Yonkers

"Doug," "Seedy," "Secretion"

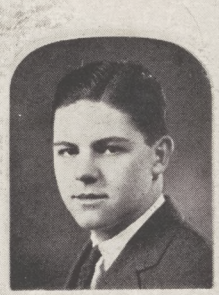
Doug is the original law-and-order hound. Whatever is not just right piques the worthy Chretien. He fainted dead away when he saw the destruction in his room after a banquet row there. Finds more zest in a meal if he can belittle the attempts at humor by his tablemates. Always wants to show someone how something ought to be done. Seedy bought a pipe at the beginning of his sophomore year to be collegiate; though he has a collection of four pipes by now he hasn't learned to inhale. Surprises his friends with the gift of a fancy cigarette or a cigar now and then, just to be different.

CHESTER ARCHIBALD COCHRAN

Roscoe

"Chet"

A modest, reserved gentleman. Often seen tripping the light fantastic toe in his room; furnishes his own music and imagines the girl. As a chemist he is a good test tube cleaner. He admired Stink's facial shrubbery so much he took Chemistry 1-2 twice. Chet is seldom heard, except when arguing with Pucillo; begins every argument with his inevitable "Well." Lack of heat in his room during winter is no Waterloo to him. By the utilization of his knowledge of chemistry and tennis, he discovered that by sleeping with his clothes on he could ward off his probable transformation into an icicle during the night.



TOBIAS JOHN COLLINS, ΑΔΦ, Manager Cross-Country and Track (3); Y.M.C.A. (2, 3); Manager's Club.

Mexico
"Toby," "T-John"

Comes from Mexico (New York). "Has a way with him." His house party women are always "darn keen," and good looking too. Want to be introduced to her? C'mon! And the victim is yanked off his feet by the collar-grabbing Collins. Was Mexico's greatest movie magnet but the stock in his company is now quite low. Favorite expression is "Say, did you hear that one Bonham pulled to-day?" This reckless Nimrod went hunting with Richards and would have hit him only wasn't a good enough shot. Toby lives on food, sleep, and necking. He has actually counted out the "thousand islands."

DOANE CHICHESTER COMSTOCK, ΔΚΕ, Business Manager of the 1926 Hamiltonian.

Brewster
"Choane," "Chi," "Stocky," "Pansy," "Battling Kid Comstock"

Doane is Brewster's virile mailman. He caught himself saying "Darn" just in time to avert the catastrophe. At 153 pounds ringside he knocked out Unk Harding, the Niagara Falls Terror, 162, ringside, on the day of the battle. It only lasted about six seconds of the first round but sport writers referred to it as the scrap of the century. After the affair the modest victor declined to make any statement. This retiring polymath also gets high honors enough to make the faculty blush. He had a terrible struggle with "that stinkin' chemistry." He is a bear at physical culture. Sophomore year he stayed up until all hours of the night to do his exercises. He is generally rated as a pretty hard guy and a tough proposition. When in one of his most terrifying moods he told Gray and Scott to grow up. 'Tis whispered that Choane is very gentle with the ladies.

ARTHUR GEORGE T. COURTEAU, E.L.S., Baseball Team (1, 2); Cross-Country Squad (3); Fencing Squad (1, 2); Football Squad (2); M. M. Club (2, 3); Geology Club (2, 3); Varsity H Club (2, 3).

Utica
"Art," "Ahtha," "Coorto"

He has the French instinct for beauty in all shapes and places, and intends to take up this study intensively at some date in the future. Art is a regular counsellor to the boys in all their little "affaires du coeur" and knows more about women that they do themselves. Whenever he stags at a party, he gets the bread-and-butter letters from the girls before their loyal swains receive them. A member of the M M Club. Says he has the intention of becoming a minister, but can't make up his mind whether it will be that or something else. We rather guess and hope it will be something else.

PHILIP JOSEPH CRANE, ΛΞΣ, Freshman Baseball; Varsity Baseball (2); Class Soccer (2).

Clinton

"Phil," "Ichabod"

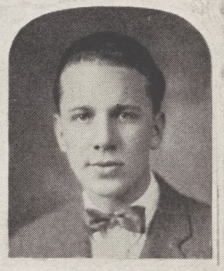
Phil is a native product, which may or may not be taken as a compliment to Clinton. Plays baseball. Once caught a fly while chasing a grounder with his mouth open—and swallowed the darned insect! Elected Physics 5-6 because he wanted to know what it was all about. Now he's sorry he's taking it because he doesn't know what it's all about. Admits he has never been in love, but is trying hard. (A glance at his photo will convince you that he will have to try harder.) His vocabulary consists of "Gee!", "Golly!", and "Holy Smoke!"

PETER BENTLEY DAYMONT, JR., E.L.S., Kellogg Essay Prize (1); Second McKinney Declamation Prize (2); Instructor in Public Speaking (3); Glee Club (2, 3); German Club (2, 3); Latin Club (2, 3); Track Squad (2).

Utica

"Pete" (and other variations of Peter), "Dammit"

This handsome specimen is the original of the "Through College On Nothing A Year" stories. Since "Cal" Albertson graduated, Dammit has taken up the mantle, and is now one of the "Department." Pete always spends a half hour combing his beautiful curly locks before he writes to a girl. Before he dates up a party-woman he combs a full two hours to increase his chances. Used to come in every Friday night freshman year to tell Lonsdale about his date. Pietro has gotten bravely over that stage now, and is strangely secretive of late. Belongs to the same banking firm as Dawes. Their motto is, "No depreciation in German marks."



FREDERICK JOSEPH DE LA FLEUR, E.L.S., Glee Club (2, 3); College Choir (3); Soccer Squad (1).

Utica

"Fred," "Freddie," "Del"

Freddie is the famous author of "How The World Looks To A Tall Man." Once you look at him, you wonder why every one so decently avoids asking him how the air is up above. However, you never can tell from the size of a thing what it's worth: one of the girls at fall house-party thought Del was "just too cute for anything!" Fred is a co-member with Gregory, Wylie and Tyler in the Misogynists Club; new members are eagerly welcomed. He sings a little, too; formed a quartet with Andrew Russell Thompson, Alexander Coburn Soper III, and James Bundy Burke to clear all the rotten fruit out of the east rooms of South. It may be added, somewhat unnecessarily, that they succeeded.

EMANUEL DE LALLA, Honor (1); Freshman Track Team; Varsity Track (1, 2); Newman Club (1, 2).

Utica
"Nutch"

Nutch is a dreamer who lives entirely in the future. He spends his spare hours on a couch dreaming on his ideal woman. Also what method he will use to get a Phi Beta Kappa key; how he'll startle the world with his medical discoveries; how he'll make his first million—When Nutch isn't dreaming he reads the Confessions of Rousseau and the Decameron, and then relapses into another state of semi-comatose. Besides the fact that Nutch has left behind him a dozen broken hearts, that he argues on Philosophical subjects about which he knows nothing, and that he is a devotee of Bacchus, he can pass as an ordinary remakable person.

ELVERTON WALRATH DOTY, E.L.S., Soccer Squad (1, 2); Soccer Team (3); Class Basketball (1).

Ilion
"Al," "Dote"

Al sleeps more than anyone else in college except Daymont. He thinks he's overworked if he hears eleven o'clock strike before he's in bed; usually makes it by ten. "Well, I guess that'll do for to-night; guess I'll get up early in the morning; where's that darned alarm clock?" Makes breakfast two mornings a week if his lessons are only moderately long. Sings in the shower, but never tried out for choir. Played soccer for the fun of it for two years, but he got down to work and made a letter his third year. Used to take mysterious trips to Syracuse after receiving scented envelopes. Has lately been discovered reading up on the charms of South Carolina and its women; why, we can't guess!

WALTER MURRAY DOWLING

Utica
"Walt"

Scowling Dowling, but means no harm. Borrows everything from toothpaste to a suit of clothes. However, he is magnanimous himself, ready to loan everything he has, though he owns very little. He boasts that "all you gotta do is use your head" to achieve success in scholarship; has seldom used his. Got a "drag" with Bill Squires through his uncle's prowess in Philosophy, but Bill is beginning to see the great contrast. Walt is a linguist; he keeps spouting the three words he knows from four languages. He had "a potential, an omnipotent drag" with "Stink" Saunders, but barely passed his course despite the sudden interest Walt took in astronomy when the Dean had his telescope out.

GEORGE SAMUEL EATON, ΛΧΑ, M. M. Club (1, 2, 3); Choir (2, 3); Elder of College Church.

Lyons Falls
"Sammy," "Flatus"

George's extra-curriculum activities include marathon running to Lyon's Falls every week-end. He broke training only twice his sophomore year—Bohn treated first and Skinner the second time. When highly annoyed he has been known to use the expletive "Blame!" and once he even went so far as to exclaim "Shoot!" Sings in the choir and knows the bass parts to both "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" Also knows quite a bit about Pierce Arrows. He has made famous the slogan, "Thanks, don't mind if I do!"

MARK FIDEL ESCH, ΑΔΦ, Football Squad (1, 2); Basketball Squad (1, 2, 3);

La Crosse, Wis.
"Fiddle," "Markus," "Cul"

Dashing—impetuous—fire eater—lady killer. Yes, he does just that—kills 'em. If there were more fellows like him the barbers would go out of business. However the House of David would flourish. Had a date since he came to college and hasn't been the same since (Since he came to college). His sisters are good looking. Goes to Utica to get his teeth fixed. He will probably have a new crushing system soon. Is an irresponsible cuss and shirks all tasks assigned to him. It has been noised about that his father has a "job in Washington" but Mark won't admit it. Don't mention golf in his presence. Ought to lay off his souping to get his grades raised.

FRANCIS JOSEPH FAHRENHOLZ, ΛΞΣ, Hamiltonian Board, German Club (3).

Spring Valley
"Frank," "Ferrie," "Frankie," "Fran"

Watch the teeth appear in that wide smile when he meets you on the campus. Frank is addicted to flowing bow ties and poetry. Cultivates poetical talent by writing for the Utica Daily Press. Looks upon women with a suspicious eye—when he thinks somebody is watching him. Has a few dark episodes in his past. (See pictures of Long Island Bathing Beach). Swears he's kissed but two girls in his life, but refuses to answer when asked if he ever fibbed. One of the most careful of Commons' plate shufflers. Cal says he establishes an "electrical contact" with his audience when speaking in Chapel, the shock of which causes him to forget his dec. Roomed with Charley Shenier sophomore year. (Charley transferred to Fordham.) Has a voice like a sick cow pleading with its obstinate offspring.

WILLIAM HAZEN FREEMAN, JR., ΔΥ, College Choir (2, 3); Asst. Manager of Hockey (3); Asst. Bus. Manager of Freshman Handbook (3); Glee Club (3); Class Baseball (1); Class Basketball (1).

Brooklyn

"Diz," "Bill"

"Diz" is short for Dizziness, (personified), appellation acquired Freshman year. Is famed on the Campus for his smooth hair comb and immaculate dress. Strong on the females, especially second-hand. Thinks he is a canary, but warbles like a cow-bird (Inhabitant of pastures). Morpheus' only rival. Reported to have been seen sneaking across the campus late at night. The original giddy kid. His motto is: "Kindness in women, not their beauteous looks, shall win my love." His brain is like a Cascaret. It works while he is asleep. (Editor is being sued for libel). Got into the Choir by telling Fancher he was a soloist before his voice changed!!

ALBERT RONDTHALER FULTON, ΘΔΧ, Hamilton Life Board (2, 3); Press Board (3); Hamiltonian Board; Cross-Country (1, 2); Track (1, 2); D. A. M. Club; Biology Club; Intercollegiate Debate (3).

Syracuse

"Al"

No, he isn't distracted, that's just his natural appearance—vulgarly called "in a fog." Al's idea of making conversation is to look at something you are wearing and ask, "Is that collegiate?" Came to the conclusion that it isn't so varsity to wear trousers that you can't get into without a shoehorn, so bought himself a lumberjack shirt and some corduroy trou. When he wants to raise hell, he smokes a cigarette. Went to a Smith prom once and has considered himself quite the old devil ever since. Eats bread crusts to keep his hair curly. Returns to college each fall with tales of moonlit romances in the Thousand Islands.

HENRY NEWELL HOLLEY, ΑΔΦ, D. T. Club, Was Los, Football (1); Track (2); H Club; Freshman Basketball; Interfraternity Golf (1, 2); Class Vice-President (2); Sophomore Banquet Committee (2); Hamiltonian Board.

La Crosse, Wis.

"Hank," "Topsy," "Christmas"

One of Wisconsin's original products. Freshman year he introduced La Crosse ways to Kirkland. Likes bridge parties and can play the game by that name. Never makes breaks (Ask Prof. Fancher for affirmation). He likes the potatoes but doesn't like the meat. Keeps his distance from the ladies but try and measure that distance. Always asks his friends when they visit him to tell all the jokes they know. Has the habit of taking young ladies to tea dances and leaving them there.

WILLIAM STICKNEY HOOPER, ΑΔΦ, D. A. M. Club.

Oshkosh, Wis.

"Bill," "Necker," "Hupper"

The sole inventor of the Hupper dialect which boasts of being able to express any possible emotion. Bill had the misfortune of being necked five times at one party and claims that it wasn't his fault. Probably he's already married—who knows—"everybody's doing it." When Hupper starts stepping, girls won't be allowed on the streets without their parents. Bill is a great fisherman. He says that he has caught two trout since his tenth birthday—but nobody believes in Santa Claus either. He is a natural born smoker being blessed with efficient soot catchers in each flue of his facial chimney.

JOHN KENNEDY HUTCHENS, ΣΦ, D. T. Club; Freshman Baseball (1); Latin Club (2); French Club (3); D. A. M.; Royal Gaboon Board (2, 3); Hamiltonian Board (3); Credit (2).

Missoula, Montana

"Hutch," "Missoula," "Chief," "Two-gun," "O'Kennedy"

Behold the lad with the most angelic face and diabolic mind in Hamilton College. Freshman year had to explain that he wasn't the Sig mascot. He and Trouble are rivals for the job now. Hutch is always seeing red: supported LaFollette until somebody gave him a Davis button; falls regularly for red-headed women (see files of the Divorce Court in Missoula County). Broke into Utica Society Freshman year, but was so "broke" after the first Saturday night that he has to attend Garvey's Movies now. Hutch is under the terrible halucination that he is the reincarnation of Shakespeare, Milton, Dante, Moliere & Co. Writes 2,000 word themes each week for pleasure (his, not Cal's). Will be Manager of Football if the three other fellows who competed for the job all die before next year.

MAURICE STRATTON IRELAND, ΨΥ, Soccer Team (1, 2, 3); Freshman Basketball Team; Basketball Squad (2, 3); Track Team (1); H Club.

Norwich

"London," "Mokey"

Called London because he is always in a fog. Claims he comes from Norwich, but Brown says they won't have him so admits he was born in Oxford. Oh yes, New York not England. Mokey high jumped freshman year, but he couldn't jump high enough to avoid Bull, so he took last year off. One of Mokey's escapades happened one prize speaking night sophomore year in chapel. He had gone out for a breath of air as the chapel was extremely warm. The Dean, also, was out inhaling the country atmosphere, and upon seeing Mokey said: "Ireland—wouldn't it be a good idea to open a few windows?" "Oh, yes," London replied, "I think it would be excellent." He then turned and started for his seat. The Dean opened the windows. The only thing that kept Mokey out of the choir was his voice.

VINCENT JOSEPH KANE

Poughkeepsie

"Vin"

The tiger of his gym class, "Scrapping Kane," they call him. Vin takes everything seriously, even study, and quotes poetry on all occasions, opportune or otherwise. Reads books with the avidity of a starving tramp eating a meal. Vincent has two hallucinations, the Purity of Woman, and the Brotherhood of Man; otherwise he seems normally rational. Went to Schiro's house in Utica once and ate 1 and ½ miles of spaghetti. Makes more noise with his feet than a regiment of soldiers marching on a hard pavement. His passion for the classics is so fervid that he took Latin 2, twice. One of our paragons of politeness and courtesy.

JOSEPH LOUIS KATZ, XBΣ, Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Instrumental Club (1, 2, 3); German Club (3); First Prize McKinney Prize Stage (2); Fencing Squad (1, 2, 3); Hamiltonian Board.

New Rochelle

"Joe," "Baby-Blue-Eyes," "Kitty"

Keeps on hand a supply of hot socks and ties. Always glad to lend them. Very reticent and coy. You must ask him, sometime, to tell you about the time he posed for Coles Philips, but be sure he is in a loquacious mood. Was once seen to blush when called "that good-looking, blue-eyed chap." In his youth he loved a woman who was pure as snow, but she drifted. Still likes them good but not too good, you know. Took one out on a Musical Club trip and spent $1.50 on her. Would have spent more but that was all she had. One of the stags at houseparty asked his woman to come out and see the side porch. "I've seen it already," quoth she.

JOHN DENNIS KELLY, ΨΥ, Tennis Team (1, 2); Freshman Baseball Team; Class Basketball (1); Interfraternity Golf (1, 2); Interfraternity Tennis Doubles Champions (2); Newman Club.

Utica

"Jack," "Dennis," "Rabbi," "Kel"

Jack is the Joe College of the Psi U house. He says he will beat Alex. Soper out for the dressing honors if the class will just have a little patience. Uses Lambda Chi Alpha House for his garage. Reason: Ford of 1492 vintage which formerly negotiated The Hill backwards now loudly refuses to climb either way. At Flatfoot's urgent request he is still to be seen but not heard among the poor misguided inmates of the Math 3-4 class. A zealous worker for the W. C. T. U. Never goes to Utica. Has an ardent delight for Coca Cola. Dennis is always looking for hard work, is a confirmed woman hater, and has surprised the world by weathering two hectic years at Ham. Coll.

GEORGE BORTON LENZ, ΨΥ, Interfraternity Hockey (1); Track Squad (1, 2); Class Track Team (2).

Gloversville
George

Here is the man from Gloversville. Don't crowd too close—he's not going to run away, and he might bite. Very modest, doesn't believe he can do a thing but just try to out-do him. Now thinks New York far better than Paris. Has a gentle voice and one usually has to ask him to repeat everything he says. George sings tenor when he can get anyone to listen to him. Great athlete. Has tried everything once. The coaches said once was enough. Hailed the class of 1928 with great delight. Not mutual. Mrs. Prex once served him at a tea dance, and he now thinks he owns the college. All his classes are a cinch. Likes most of them so well and thought they were so easy that he decided to take them again. Beautiful but dignified.

ALAN LONSDALE, E.L.S., Life Board (2, 3); Press Board (2, 3); Hamiltonian Board (3); Latin Club (2, 3); College Choir (1, 2, 3); Track Squad (2).

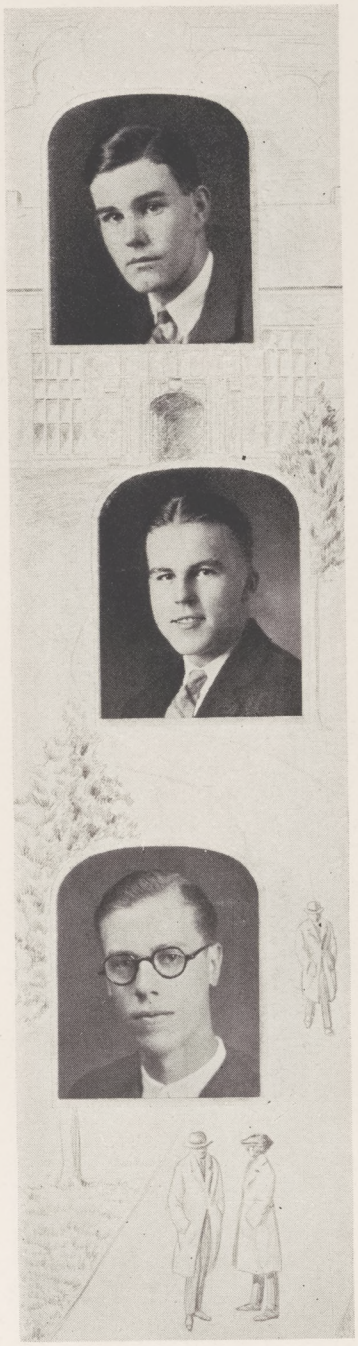
Glen Rock, N. J.
"Lonnie," "Al." "Elmer"

This lil fellow may be small, but oh, my! He tries to take everything seriously, even his girl at a house-party. He also is quite in earnest about his studies, stays up burning the midnight oil long after his roommates have sensibly gone to sleep, and has a fit of despondency when he falls as low as credit in a recitation or quiz. Alan went into Ute one evening and didn't return until the next noon. At first it was thought it might be the result of his frequent excursions into French literature, but it turned out all right, after all. Came to college an innocent young boy, but he's turned out to be a regular little devil; smokes a pipe regularly and a Pall Mall or a cigar now and then. Maintains he is a misogynist and a pessimist, but while there's life there's hope.

LELAND DOUGLAS LYON, ΘΔΧ, D. A. M. Club.

Glens Falls
"Shorty"

We should have labeled this picture "1/42 natural size." Tied for tall man honours with Dan Pierce—Dan got discouraged and left. Since Dan left college his right is indisputable. Ought to make a good salesman. Nearly put the Store out of business by selling everything from neckties to radiators. Quite a connoisseur of automobiles. Was always called into consultation when "Mildew" wouldn't run. Went into the automobile business for himself, and for a time was the Charon of Clinton, ferrying us up and down the Hill in one of Turnock's boats. Ought to write a book on "Memoirs of a Taxi Driver or Why they had to get two State Troopers in Clinton."



HOLLISTER WILLIAM MARQUARDT, E.L.S., Class President (3); Manager Baseball (3); Manager's Club (3); Honor Court (3); Upperclassman Discipline Committee (3); Junior Carnival Committee (3); Sophomore Banquet Committee (2); Varsity Basketball (1, 2); Varsity H Club (2, 3); Biology Club (3).

Dayton, Ohio

"Hollie," "Markit"

Hollie is our chief representative from the wild and wooly west, the only part of the world where men are still men. Freshman year he used to tell about the beautiful, bright, and loving girls in Dayton. He's changed his mind materially since then, however. Used to write letters every day to the "one and only," but he's gotten over that, too. However, all the girls love him; what more could a man ask? Now that brother Fritz is in college, Hollie leaves the talk and the girls of "The Golden West" to him. He lived with Nichols once for half a term "in the dear dead days beyond recall," and he has never fully gotten over the experience, but Nichols has patterned himself after "Markit" ever since, even to the matter of clothes.

EDWARD CHRISTY MARTIN, E.L.S., Football Team (1, 2); Captain (4); Class Hockey Team (1); Varsity Hockey Squad (2); Baseball Team (2).

New York Mills

"Ed," "Eddie," "Coach"

Eddie is from that thriving town of New York—need we add it?—Mills. He is a model young man, generally speaking,—avoids the women and all that sort of thing. Just the opposite of Courteau in this respect. However, he's a lion with the fair sex when he gets started—he nearly stole Olmsted's girl while "Ump" was playing football last fall. Likes to be called "coach," but now he'll have to take Cap Taylor's nickname away from him. Ed likes "dec" chapels and stands up there as unconcerned as a cucumber, not caring whether the audience listens or not. The "coach" has quite a reputation as a salesman. Even he himself never knows how many times he sells the same desks or chairs or tables.

JOHN AVERY MERWIN, ΑΔΦ, Assistant Manager Musical Clubs (3).

Canastota

"Ave," "John"

Not a commons eater but greatly devoted to "supe." It has come to be a steady diet. The mystery man of the college. Avery is going to be on the hill two nights next week. Had his picture taken freshman year in the romantic attitude—without a necktie—to satisfy his insistent customers. He has the habit of changing his business location every so often. Lately he has been very interested in "Y" work in Utica. Has a profound taste for great artists—musical and otherwise. Was told by one bashful maid that he had latent powers which he didn't make the most of.

HAROLD JOHN MICHELS, ΑΔΦ, Assistant Mgr. Football (3); Track (1, 2); Was Los; Golf Committee; Mgrs'. Club; Royal Gaboon Board; Freshman Hockey; Fencing Squad (2); Chairman Sophomore Tea Dance.

Whitesboro

"Mike," "Mitch," "Mish"

High man in the 1923 class of the J. K. Willard school. "Mike" received the coveted soccer shoes—which have been his close friends ever since—as recompense for his faithful work. He is an ardent golfer and has done a good deal toward leveling off the course. "Mike" established a long distance record for wearing pants by remaining in his navy grays for two months during his sophomore year. Says he has resigned from Utica's 400 club since the Alpha Delt Tea Dance at Union. His one failing is in not being able to understand the mental functions of cats.

VERNE IMMEN MONTGOMERY, ΧΨ, ΠΔΕ, Ass't. Bus. Mgr. Hamilton Life (3); Cir. Mgr. Life (3); Class Basketball (1); Mgrs'. Club (3); Biology Club (2, 3); Circulation Manager Hamiltonian.

Scarsdale

"Montie," "Rockefeller"

Known by his Westchester County accent. Note Jewish cast of countenance. He's proud of it. Traces his ancestry back to Lot. Claims to have once found a moth in his wallet. The fatigued look around the eyes is the result of rooming two years with the Payne (Paine) brothers. He has never been known to hurry. "Montie's" associates are ready to pay good money for authentic, bona fide, certified photographs of V. I. Montgomery in a hurry. He is destined to die a fat man. "How's for going to bed, you fellows?"

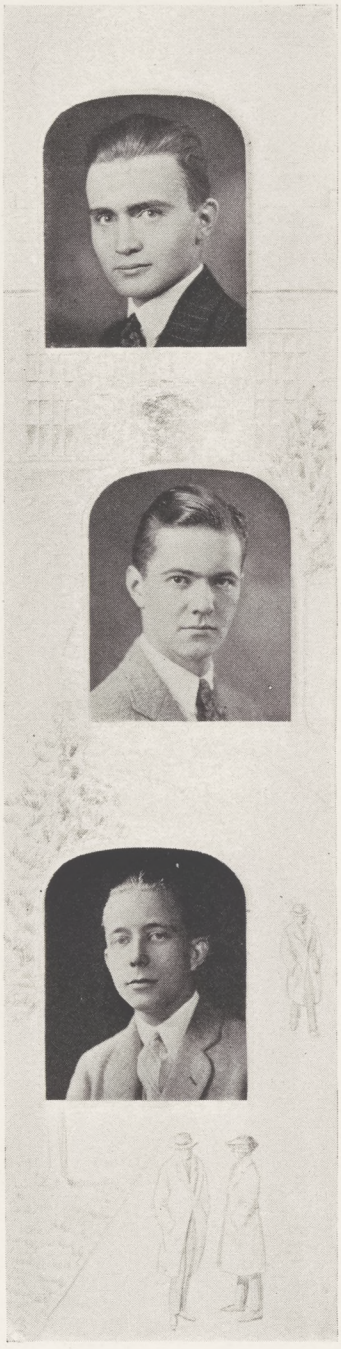
Jamaica, L. I.

"Nic," "Nitchols"

"Nic" was picked to play the part of the boy Gartius in the mystery play at Commons, so that gives a good picture of him. The boy incarnate. Just full of the Old Harry, you know, and all that sort of thing. Neither Marquardt nor his seniors could thoroughly tame him his first year, but what a blessing they succeeded as well as they did! Roomed with the brains of his class sophomore year and flunked one of his best subjects. "Nitchols' is the complement of Marquardt and with him forms that phenomenon of nature known as the Siamese twins, they wear the same size hats, shoes, shirts, and everything else. "Nic" bought a suit like Hollie's once and never knew whose suit he was wearing, his own or his twin's. "Nic" furnishes his celibate brothers with party women from anywhere. "A girl in every port" is his motto. "How's for a date, Ladd, huh?"



ORLO ROYS NICHOLS, ΛΞΣ, Winter Carnival Committee; Fencing Squad (2); Credit (2).

Utica
"Nick," "Toodles," "Pickles," "Bachelor"

Orlo possesses a unique character, the first of its kind recorded in the annals of the Hill. He professes to be a hater of the "fare" sex. Founder, president, secretary, treasurer, oldest living member and sole survivor of the Hamilton College Bachelors' Club. This institution was founded after a certain Syracuse damsel ceased sending epistles, et al, to "Bachelor," and at one time boasted five members. Alienists are unable to diagnose his case. Secret efforts to discover his violations of the Club's constitution have been fruitless. Strained his vocal organs by trying to speak above a whisper. Would make a good cheer leader for a school for the deaf and dumb. Has never been mistaken for Prex or Supe.

EDMUND FABIAN O'CONNELL, ΔΚΕ.

Brookline, Mass.
"Ed," "Runt"

Edmund is the senior partner of the debating firm of O'Connell and Slaughter. Edmund is very much in love with the Clinton climate, Hamilton, and everything in general. He has that pleasant gift, the ability to tell one just a shade better. In fact, he is rather bored with the general run of things. He can't be bothered, can't be annoyed; no, he hasn't done the lesson, aw for—, why for—and so on ad nauseam. His one big splurge in college activities was his unexpected win in the Intercollegiate Grapefruit Throwing Contest. Running as a dark horse, conceded only an outside chance, he crashed through at the last moment. He is the terror of gym class basketball, and the demon on the hockey rink. He is final authority on many subjects such as trains to Kansas City, Millbrook, Rome, and Buffalo.

BRENT GOOD ORCUTT, ΔΥ, D. T. Club; Cross-Country Squad (1, 2, 3); Tennis Squad (1); Track Squad (1, 2).

South Orange, N. J.
"Brent," "Orc," "Awkward"

When he came to College he could hardly open his mouth. Now all we can see is yawning chasm. His chief pastime is finding out who is wearing his clothes. Has been turned out of the Hockey Rink regularly. Said he liked Soph. Math. because he liked to look at figures. Flunked it cold. Wrong kind of figures, I guess! Is said to have a good soprano voice. One of the "intelligent" residents of South Orange. Reported to have gone out for Cross Country Freshman year. The only living exponent of chaste masculinity. Believed to have led a wild life when younger. Smokes, chews, swears! Associates with Robson and is otherwise mercenary. Has been known to show glimmerings of intelligence.

DAVID PAINE, XΨ, Assistant Manager of Charlatans (3); Managers' Club (3); Hamilton Life Board (1, 2, 3); Class Secretary-Treasurer (3); Hamiltonian Board (3).

Syracuse

"Dave," "Pain"

He likes variety. Freshman year he succeeded in using all the Brothers' toothbrushes; now he is collecting stray pipes—"Oh, thou odoriferous stench." Always scuffs up the rugs; never can find his clothes. His closet resembles a pawnshop. "Don't throw that away, it might come in handy." Lost his girl one Junior Prom, since then he has been off Binghamton. Got a job in the College Library in the hope that he could absorb wisdom by osmosis. Up to now the experiment is a failure.

Liberty

"Dem," "Demie," "Deemy," "Spindy," "Lib," "Pain"

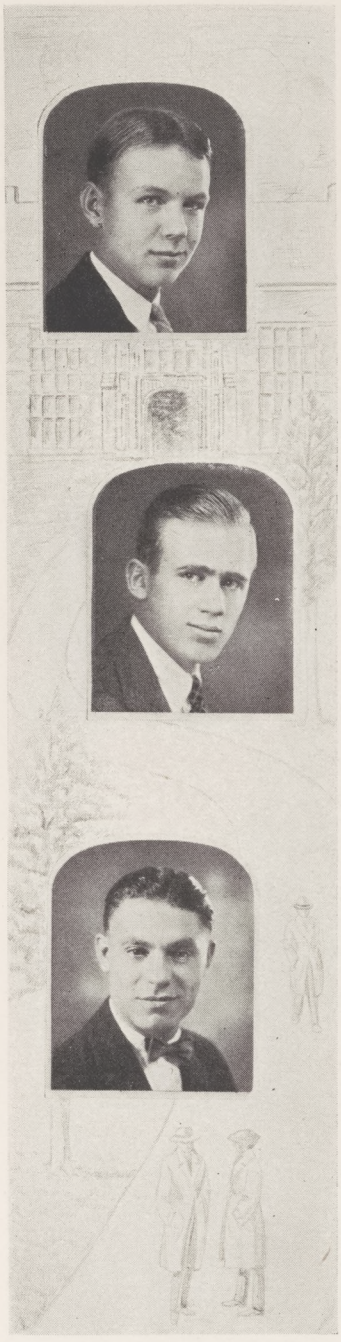
Jack Mann roomed with him for one term and then left College. He has a saxophone—ask the inmates of Carnegie. He has a sense of humor which runs chiefly to practical jokes, viz: locks the door of his roommate's clothes press when the latter is in a hurry; hides the shoes of the same; fills the roommate's toothpowder box with slaked lime; etc. Ever since last fall houseparty he has been trying to prove to Mr. Gélas that he really missed the Williamstown train. Partner in the firm of Montgomery and Payne, Dealers in Desks, Bureaus, and Waste Baskets. Paid his expenses and pin money freshman year by buying furniture from penniless seniors, and selling the next fall to gullible freshmen.

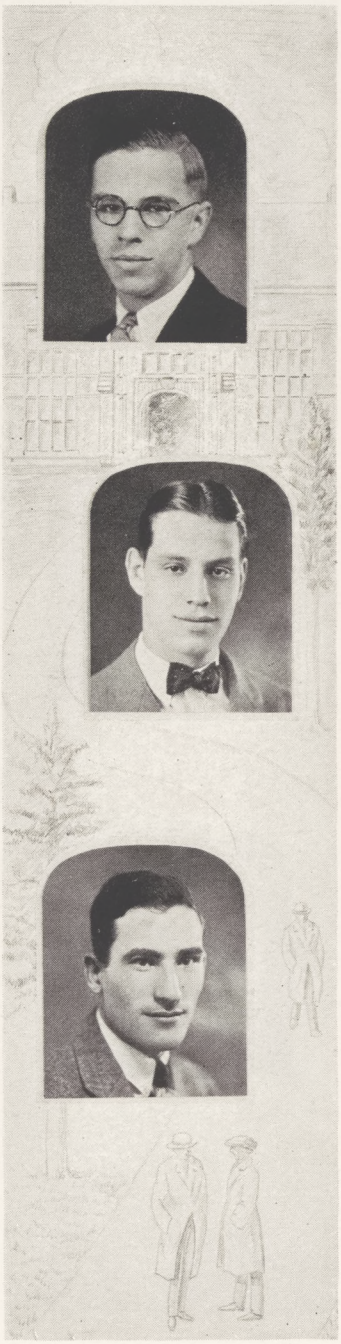
DELAFIELD PHILIP PUCILLO

Tuxedo Park

"Del"

Talk to him and you will immediately know he comes from Tuxedo Park, the only existing Utopia, eh, "Del"? A staunch advocate of upperclassman privileges, he does not fail to impress it upon his inferiors. "Pipe down, slime," he bellows every night when he studies. "Del" gets High Honor in his "decs" but can't understand why. For the aid of Freshmen—"Del" is so altruistic—he, a recognized authority on the subject, is writing a book entitled "Soupology—Its Forms, Uses and Effects." "Read the book and you will not flunk," he claims. Hopes to use his history notebook—that's where all his knowledge of the subject is safely lodged—to instruct his future victims. "Del" blasphemes only when not in church, which he attends every Christmas.





HERBERT DOUGLASS RATHBUN, ΘΔX, Manager of Soccer; Tennis; Intramurals (3); Managers' Club (3); Hamiltonian Photographer; Interfraternity Hockey (2); History Club (3).

Phelps

"Herb," "Doug"

And here you have Herb, formerly of Rochester University. Rochester didn't suit him, so he appeared at Hamilton, joining the ranks of '26 sophomore year. His claim to glory is that he's the biggest eater in college. Thinks he's quite a sheik and says he knows lots of women. Takes everything seriously, even Gene Gardner. His greatest ambition in college is to bring up his brother in the straight and narrow path. Ask him about what happened to the soccer team when it arrived in Williamstown.

FRANK EDWARD RICHARDS, ΑΔΦ, Cross-Country (1); Track (1); Football (3); Class Track and Football.

Phoenix

"Bunk"

"Bunk" and Christopher were born in Phoenix. Both were bouncing young babies; born holding a great horned spoon in their hands. Twenty hard Phoenix summers have passed and we find Christopher and "Bunk" as the model youths of their town. Bunk is spending his days in intellectual circles, receiving huge smites of knowledge on the gourd. Christopher is working in Syracuse for the paltry sum of twenty iron men per week. To-day, by Zeus, "Bunk" and Christopher are the only living citizens of Phoenix who can get two pool balls in their mouth at the same time.

Johnstown

"Red," "Tom," "Rich-etts"

The red-headed Flash from Johnstown. a noted anti-misogynist. If you can name a girl in Johnstown, Gloversville, or Utica that he doesn't know, he will give you five dollars. They won't admit knowing him, however. We don't blame them. "Rich-etts" was a runner once, but after coming in third in a race in which there were only three men, he announced that his family wouldn't let him run any more. He was also a basketball-fighter of note Freshman year. Last seen in Utica, and has been the sole support of The New York Railway Co. for the past year. Has a wonderful disposition, a fine voice, and beautiful hair.

DAVID HIRAM ROBBINS, ΑΞΕ, Interclass Basketball (1); Track Squad (2); Cross-Country Team (3); German Club (3, 4).

Frankfort
"Dave," "Hiram," "Davy," "Robbie"

Mathematically, this product of Frankfort's fair fields of turnips and cabbages is infinite; mentally, he is hopeless; vocally—well, to hear him sing is an education in itself. Tries to finish whatever he begins. Began on the cross country team and almost finished it (the team). Comes in last to make sure no one will get lost. His sense of humor is in-grown—like a toe nail. Speaks mysteriously about a sorority houseparty at Syracuse last year, and receives rose scented letters bearing a Syracuse postmark. A nice fellow when you get to know him, but no one knows him yet.

FRANK HUSON ROBSON, JR., ΔΥ, D. T. Elizabeth, N. J.
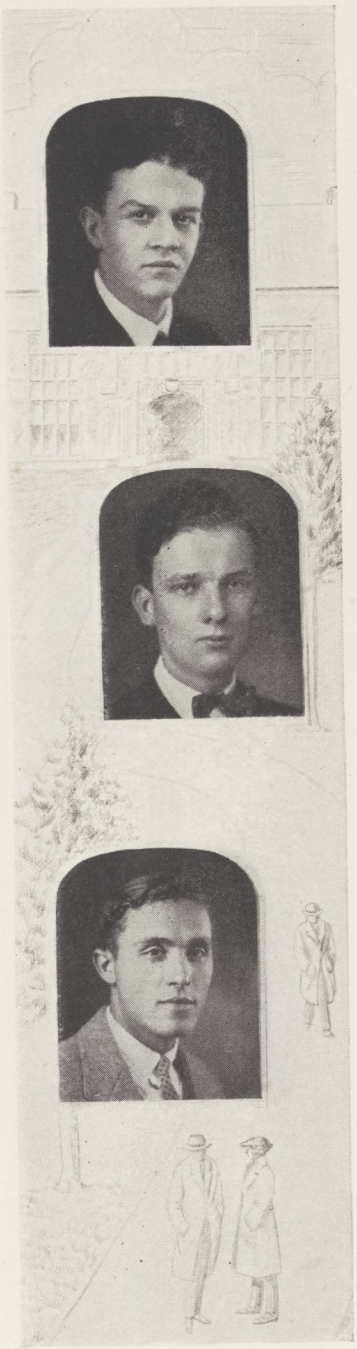
"Bud," "Roby"

The star of his delegation in more ways than one, The reason why Utica girls go around the world, and his brothers stay in lack of clothing. Acts like H---. and thus got into the Charlatans. A budding Phi Bete of the century flower variety, nipped in "Bud." (Sounds like a punk pun!) Spends his summers commanding the Hudson River Day Line Fleet. See Orcutt about the extensive "Line." Played on the Freshman Hockey Team on his face. The only one of his kind, thank Christopher, and we refuse to spoil the book by describing the species! Always seems to be thinking about something. How some men fool us! Musical Clubs trips bring out the worst in him. (See Jackson).

GEORGE SCHIRO, Honor (1, 2); Hamiltonian Board; Junior Prom Committee; Latin Club (2, 3); Freshman Track Team; Newman Club (3).

Utica
"Schiro"

George was the freshest "slimer" that ever hit this institution of higher learning. In fact, so fresh that the sophs dumped him into the fountain to quench his flaming ardor, but this served only to make him a scourge, a terror to the Freshmen in North the following year. George has two ambitions: namely, to get a Phi Beta Kappa key, and to become a second Clarence Darrow. At football games, he makes more noise than the rest of the crowd combined; ready to argue any question any time, and attempts to subdue his opponent by smothering him with pompous sounding words, the more high-toned the better.



GRANT MELVILLE SELCH, ΛΧΑ, M. M. Club; Biology Club; Charlatans; Football Squad (1, 2); Track Squad (1, 2).

Round Lake

"Selch," "Mr. Cant Squelch"

David Garrick, reincarnated. Probably the most promising of Fanny's actors. He has endeared himself to Hamilton audiences in any number of roles, the most numerous of which was the entire mob in "The Faithful." He tried to play "Anthony" but was of much too high a character to suit Cleopatra. Promises to "clean up" Kirkland if they will only elect him street commissioner. Mr. Post says he is the cleanest cut man he ever saw. Says "Sure!" in the falsest of falsettos, and is noted for inflecting "What's the idea?" He comes from Round Lake, but the fishing is better there now.

THOMAS ALBERT SHIELDS, ΘΔΧ, D. T. Club; Hamilton Life Exchange Editor (3); Interfraternity Hockey (1, 2); Math. Club (3).

Syracuse

"Tom," "Tommy"

This youth has a dislike for anything collegiate, and is continually distracted for fear some one will think him smooth. Has a definite view on every subject, but refuses to argue unless his convictions are too seriously attacked. Tom is an ardent advocate of the proposition that woman is the root of all evil. Consequently he has never brought one to house-party. Thought he heard a Clinton girl speak to him by name on College Street one day, and is still concerned as to how she knew who he is. Rooms with Fuess whom he tries to shock by reading seventeenth century literature to him.

BURRHUS FREDERIC SKINNER, ΛΧΑ, Chairman, Freshman Banquet Committee; Sophomore Banquet Committee; Instrumental Club (1); Hawley Greek Prize; Hamiltonian Board; Junior Carnival Committee.

Scranton, Pa.

"Freddy," "Beef Skin"

Fred took only one year of Philosophy because he couldn't convince Bill Squires that he is the center of the universe. The phrenologist capped the climax by telling him that he is an egotist. Fred calmly consented and has been strutting around the campus with that look-me-over attitude ever since. He is still old-fashioned enough to believe the Baconian Theory. He has argued the question so much that he really believes that he is the reincarnation of Bacon, but he is really nothing more than a ham in disguise. Fred claims that he is not sentimental, but Sophomore year he was caught on a moonlight night leaning out of a window in South College while inhaling the aroma of a violet scented vanity case to the pathetic yearning of a broad "Ah!"

GEORGE WELLINGTON SLAUGHTER, ΔKE.

Wallkill
"Doc," "El Medico," "Wellington"

Junior member of the firm of O'Connell and Slaughter. His knowledge dovetails with O'Connell's. He is an authority on the subjects that O'Connell does not rule. However, he is very well satisfied with everything, including George. He has a puzzling relation with Cornell, or some member of the family. "Doc" intends to be a saw-bones. Ergo, we hear all varieties of operations discussed, all kinds of cases diagnosed, all George's hospital conquests rehearsed and rehashed. It will be interesting to future generations to note that George played guard on his high school football team. He isn't any athlete and he knows it but he will gladly tell you how to play most any game with the exception of golf. Rather harmless if charged with static electricity or misspelling.

JOEL HYDE SQUIER, ΘΔX, D. T. Club; Sophomore Banquet Committee; Junior Carnival Committee; Glee Club (3).

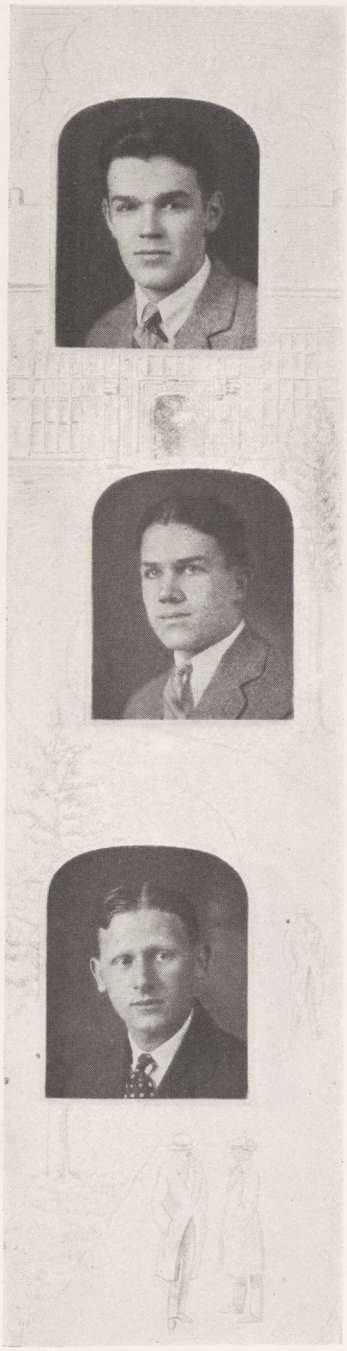
New York
"Joe"

Joe is no relation of his namesake on the faculty. He must have thought he was, because he couldn't understand why Bill didn't pass him in philosophy. Made the glee club; didn't attend rehearsals, and yet he wonders why Thompson "cut" him. Thinks he would enjoy college life if it weren't for the faculty. They confer a delinquency upon him at every meeting. But Joe would rather have a delinquency than miss a week-end in Elmira. His idea of a big time is eating breakfast in bed in an Elmira hotel. With Button and Robson, member of "How Dry I Am" triumvirate.

GEORGE WILKINSON STANLEY, ΨΥ, Was Los; Varsity Football (1, 2, 3); Freshman Hockey Team; Captain; Hockey Squad (2, 3); Track Squad (1, 2); Biology Club (1, 2); Geology Club (2, 3); German Club (3); Executive Council (3).

Clinton
"Pug," "George"

George hails from Clinton, but he tries to keep it a secret. Nobody blames him. Vies with Rocks for pace-setting honors on all Geology trips. Says Rocks is too slow so to prove it goes on some of his own. Really, girls, he's not half so hard as he looks. He couldn't get all his anatomy in the photo. He tried to though. Yes, he was brought up on Mellen's food. Called Pug not because he likes it but because he can't help his looks. We wish he could, too. Gives lessons in suping to all Freshmen. Society his weakness. Can drive a car with left hand.



PAUL REED TAYLOR, ΔKE, Hamiltonian Board; Royal Gaboon Board (2, 3); Latin Club (2, 3).

Penn Yan

"Cap," "Peerade Taylor," "Merton"

He has the distinction of being one of the many adolescents who resemble Glenn Hunter. Cap intends to break the half-mile record if he gets in shape. He was an eminent psychologist until the marks came out. Has a heavy collegiate correspondence with West Virginia, Russell Sage, Wilson College, and Syracuse. He may be seen any Sunday with the roto-gravure section and a pair of scissors: "Where's the Syracuse paper, I'll bet my girl's picture is in it." He acquired a real southern accent from running a tea room. This southern tendency crops out at house-party. He has written the first part of innumerable essays, novels, short stories, and sermons, but falls in love with his own epigrams and never finishes. You are apt to discover him dreaming about almost anything.

GILBERT LESLIE VAN VLEET, ΘΔX, Freshman Hockey; Varsity Hockey (2, 3); Track (2); Soccer (2); Freshman Baseball; Captain-Elect of Hockey.

East Orange, N. J.

"Gil," "Van," "Dutch"

And Gil made loud harangue in the halls of Hamilton that he could well handle the hockey stick and that on the icy rink he was swift as to feet and that he could well drive forward the rubber puck, even to the enemy's goal. And we did see that he spake true words, for his fame on the icy rink became great. Nor was he satisfied in mind as to his words in the shinny game, but verily did he wish to conquer the dear hearts of the fair-cheeked maidens who lived in the village called Clinton. And he made a great conquest, and many were the hearts broken in his wake. And he also practiced suping, going even unto the house of him named Squires that he might there pass the evening in heavy sessions of bull.

JOSEPH VOGEL

Utica

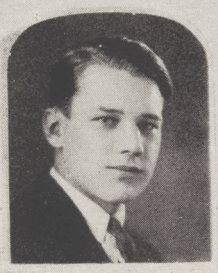
"Joe"

Joe's curly blond hair and blue innocent eyes reveal an artistic nature. In fact, Joe rapturously anticipates a career as a Bohemian artist. He shows remarkable interest in painting—especially the nude. Joe also seeks renown in other branches of the Arts. An essay in the American Mercury is his ultimate ambition; however, he claims he'll be satisfied with an article in the Atlantic Monthly. In case of failure in these two lines, Joe relies for sustenance upon the legitimate stage. What Diva can resist those eyes? And Joe jigs very well indeed. It is rumored that he reads Political Science for pleasure! Besides this fact Joe is fairly rational.

JOHN WILLIAM WALBRIDGE, ΔΥ, College Choir (1); M. M. Club (1, 2, 3); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet, Treasurer (3); Elder of College Church; Royal Gaboon Board (2, 3); Art Editor Hamiltonian (3).

Oxford
"Wally," "Bill," "Deacon"

Our little minister. Has a fluent line of stuff for the members of his fold. Worst hypocrite on the Hill. Propounds astonishing theories on anything from "Eugenics" to "Technique of Mooching." Bluffs eighteen hours a week. Should have been born in 1776 to get in on the Signing. Only man in college that has never been kissed, up till Oct. 31, 1924. Tossed a coin Freshman year to see whether he would be a "regla fella" or a Y.M.C.A. shark. We can't tell which one! Psychologically speaking, is not a social animal. Champion Debater of the Universal and Unique League of New York State and Elsewhere. Uncontested leader of the Grand Order of Cherubims. Rest of the things he has done are not fit to print!



HARRY ORMOND WALLACE, ΣΦ, Charlatans (1); Class Baseball (1); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (2).

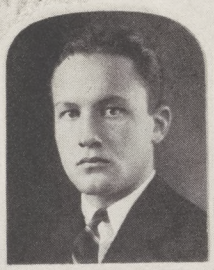
Vincennes, Ind.
"Harry," "Gourmonde," "Trouble"

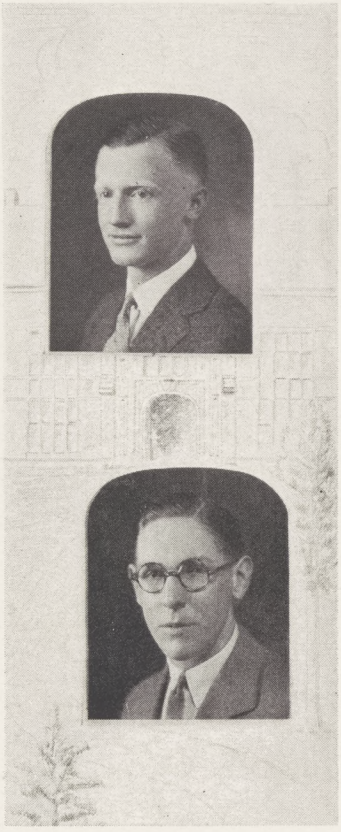
Has been in College two and three-quarters years and his line hasn't changed a syllable. Started out to knock 'em cold in Utica Freshman year; he now gets in his heavy work after the nine o'clock show in Clinton on Saturday night. How they don't fall for this guy! Favorite lie ...."and just after I'd finished the third quart...." Got a dog this year; they're a lot alike: the bark's worse than the bite. Has bummed all over Oneida county (think of it!) during vacation times; is now a candidate for the I. W. W. (I won't work). Waited till Junior year before he encouraged the slimers to keep off the grass.

ALPHONSO BARBER WALRATH, ΑΔΦ, Track Squad (1); Junior Prom Committee.

Fort Plain
"Al," "Alf," "Barb," "Fon," "Fonny," "Presh," "Cutie"

A bear with the women. Even if he does come from a small town he admits it, because it is probably the most famous in the state—of central New York. His snaking proclivities have given rise to that good old song, "Where, Oh where is the snaky Walrath." Come along almost any evening in a car, Kirkland bound, and he will hail you—"Ride as far as Kirkland?" Has very optimistic, cheerful nature. Wears twenty inch trousers because "They wear them at Princeton this year." It's the cut of your clothes that counts. Gives advice on what the well dressed college man will wear—"Watch me."





ABRAHAM DAVID WILLIAMS

Clinton

"Bill," "Abe"

"Bill" is red-haired, and therefore fast on the track. He's on the Hill so little of the time that not much can be discovered about him. He has a hard job protecting himself from the insidious wiles of Clinton's famous belles; however, all defense goes for naught, when once that brilliant blush enhances his manly beauty to an even greater extent. Last year he debated alone both sides of the Prohibition question, being his own opponent and colleague. But not much incriminating evidence could be gathered from his remarks,—so cleverly did he handle the delicate situation. One of Stink's faithful satellites. Strange rumor that he is a great singer has never been confirmed—thank God!

HARVEY GORDON YOUNG, XBΣ, Football Squad (1); Fencing Squad (1, 2, 3); Track Squad (1, 2, 3); Latin Club; Oren Root Mathematical Prize; Declamation Chapel Marker.

Warren

"Gordy," "Happy," "Prof," "Doc"

Richfield Springs' Greatest Lover. Field of operations includes New Hartford and Trumansburg. We are anxious to know which way is longest, to or from Trumansburg, and whether it was a very long walk? Freshman and Sophomore years spent entirely in solving math problems and sleeping. Has exceeding renown as math shark and won math prize Sophomore year. Elected math 5-6 for a cinch course. Will tell you he plays the banjo. Acquired a blue shirt and a mean bow-tie this fall. Soon after was observed reading pink stationery, and immediately made a flying trip to Cortland Normal School wearing the aforementioned blue shirt. For further information ask "Dick" Ralph.

The History of the Class of 1927

IN ACCORDANCE with the college tradition, the greater part of the Class of 1927 assumed for one year the title of "Sophomores." The usual trivial formalities were gone through with, such as moving up to the central portion of the chapel, trouncing the freshmen in the after-chapel rows, and participating in Sophomore debate classes. The class accomplished all of this with the remarkable success which is so characteristic of this remarkable group of men. Banquet season, instead of lasting for two weeks, was gloriously terminated on the second night of the allotted period, when the entire class—(with the exception of a few who had previous engagements)—partook of a sumptuous repast at Harmony Hall in Waterville. (If the reader is very much disappointed at not finding the words "spirited feast" he may substitute them ad lib.) There were a few slimers present, but most of them were too exhausted to come, having been out all the previous night looking for the banquet in Franklin Springs.

The class was very well represented on the various athletic teams. In fact, most of the teams could not have existed without the athletes who sign their names with a '27 after them. There were sophomores on the football, basketball, hockey and fencing teams, not to mention the minor sports and Geology field trips. The various other college activities were as well supported.

Little need be said regarding scholarship. Obviously, this is a class of scholars. Perhaps not all high honor men, but most of the members have managed to live up to the eligibility rules, and several have made an excellent start towards Phi Beta Kappa.

And it is for these reasons that whenever a letter comes to the office asking for the name of a man willing to take the vice-presidency of a great corporation, the vice-principalship of a high school, or any other responsible position, it always contains one prohibitory clause—"The applicant must be a member of the Class of 1927."

PRESIDENT BURKE

History of the Class of 1928

BEFORE the class of '28 ever materialized on the Hill, it had set a college record! Numerically the greatest class that ever entered, much was expected from it by apprehensive sophomores, sympathetic juniors, and discerning seniors. No one was disappointed. From the first, the freshmen demonstrated such an overwhelming physical superiority, that the demoralized sophs ceased any further activities till the banquet season forced them out of hiding.

The story of that week is history. One third of the class of '27 forcibly detained from their feed, the best dormitory war within the memory of the present senior class, and the public departure of the freshman class from the campus, are some of the more startling occurrences. The last-mentioned coup will long be remembered by all who took part in it. The freshmen gathered on the campus, shooed the sophomores indoors, and after a triumphant circuit of the grounds, marched in excellent order, four abreast, to Clinton. Thence they journeyed to the banquet in Utica, by way of Mr. N. Y. State's trolley line.

In other fields as well, has '28 set its mark. The football, soccer, basketball, and fencing squads have all profited by its support, while pure modesty forbids any mention of the cross-country team.

In all its activities, moreover, the class has tried to stand for good sportsmanship and clean play. Constantly developing and improving, it intends to maintain the spirit for which Hamilton always stands.

CAPTAIN TOWNE

CAPTAIN MARTIN

The Football Season 1924

THE Buff and Blue, although swamped by its ancient rival, Union, by the worst score of the season, showed considerable improvement over the 1923 team. Inexperience probably accounts for the erratic playing of this year's eleven; Hamilton showed stellar football at times, and at times sank to mediocrity. However, the team, under the tireless guidance of coaches Carroll and McBride, established itself among the most powerful machines turned out on the Hill in recent years by winning three out of eight games, even though all of its opponents were heavier and were regarded as favorites. The record is not imposing, yet the team ran up the highest score in a single game since 1904, and won two games in succession for the first time in four years.

Green but willing, the Buff and Blue held the powerful Williams' veteran eleven to a score of 27-7 by sheer fight and little else. Barbeson, a freshman halfback playing his first game on the Hill, placed himself in the Hamilton football hall of fame by intercepting a Williams' pass on his own twenty yard line and dashing eighty yards for a touchdown.

Haverford, the weakest team on the schedule, had little trouble in defeating the Buff and Blue, 13-0, on Steuben Field.

When Rochester invaded the Hill the Buff and Blue was at the height of its form, outplaying the visitors in every department of the game. Score, 16-30.

In one of the roughest games of the season, Stevens went down to defeat at Hoboken, 14-6.

Ragged playing marred the game with Amherst, and the New Englanders easily ran up a total of 48 points while holding Hamilton to a goose egg.

C. C. N. Y. came to the Hill a heavy favorite, but the wonderful broken field running and line plunging of the backfield and the stonewall defense of the line snowed the New Yorkers under, 33-0.

St. Lawrence, eager to avenge the 12-14 defeat of last season, took advantage of Hamilton's fumbles to win by the score of 12-7.

Then came the annual contest with Union. The score, 62-0, was the worst the Buff and Blue suffered throughout the season, and was the second largest ever totalled against it by the Garnet.

CAPTAIN GIFFORD

CAPTAIN MORRIS

The Baseball Season 1924

Out of seven games played last spring there was only one victory and Hamilton made less than half as many runs as her opponents. Bad weather cancelled four games; two of these, the Clarkson and Albany Teachers contests, would probably have resulted in victories. Both Rochester games were lost by a hair's breadth, and the St. Lawrence game looked like defeat for the Scarlet until the fourth inning. Taking everything into consideration, the Buff and Blue made a more creditable record than the scores alone would indicate.

Donald F. McBride, coach of baseball, started the season with two veteran pitchers in Gifford and Marks, and had in Morris a catcher of proven ability. He welcomed Martin, who had been ineligible in 1923, as an addition to the pitching staff, and a capable all-around player. Hatch played his old position at first base; Sarcka was put at third; and MacLean, a freshman, occupied second. Courteau played shortstop; Pottle, Ricketts, and Payne, the outfield. Lewis, a freshman, made an able substitute for catcher.

On May 3, the team started its schedule with a game at Rochester. In the fourth inning, although the score was 4 to 0 against them, the Buff and Blue tied the score, leaving the outcome undecided until the eleventh inning brought a 6 to 5 defeat.

The fast Cornell team swamped Hamilton on the following Wednesday at Ithaca. Martin and Marks shared the pitcher's box, allowing runs in all but the second inning.

Two home games which were to follow, Union and Williams, were cancelled on account of rain. Continued spells of rain were Hamilton's worst handicap of the season. It not only interrupted important games, but often made practice impossible.

Rochester, fresh from her 4 to 1 victory over Colgate, came to Clinton on May 17 expecting an easy victory. Martin, however, with excellent support from the team, held a 4 to 1 lead over Rochester until the beginning of the ninth, when Rochester got the four runs necessary for her 5 to 4 victory.

McBride's men lost the three following games to Colgate, St. Lawrence, and Union, finishing the season by a 5 to 2 victory over the Albany State Teachers.

Freshman Baseball

Freshman baseball is a great developer of varsity material. Some promising players were found in the class of 1927. MacLean only played with the freshmen when his services were not required as varsity shortstop. Donohue did some good pitching, especially in the Utica Free Academy game. Sarcka's game at third base, as well as his batting, mark him as varsity material. King did well at second base.

The Track Season 1924

Loss by graduation in 1923 of Yates, Morris, Fenn, and Van Hoesen left a serious gap in the track team resulting in a series of four defeats. At the Penn Relays, April 26, Hamilton was represented in the mile relay by the Alison brothers, Thomas, and Watkins. They placed third in their group. Captain Alison finished fifth in the finals of the 100 yard dash.

The first dual meet was with Alfred on a cloudy day when the Steuben track was slow. Alec Alison earned 18 points, taking three firsts and a second place. Thomas made a first and a second, and LeFever, two seconds.

In the next meet, which was with Colgate at Hamilton, the Buff and Blue was weak in the field events. Alec Alison won the 100 yard dash and the quarter mile; Clark won the two mile; Val Alison, the mile; McGiffin, the discus.

Again, at the Union meet in Schenectady, Captain Alison became the star. He placed first in the 100, and 220 yard dashes, and second in the 440. Thomas won the 440. Finishing the season at home, Hamilton lost to Middlebury on May 3, 58 to 77.

Hockey Season Review

Again Hamilton College was represented by a winning hockey team. This year's team made a record equally as good as that made by any previous team, winning ten of the thirteen games played. Hamilton beat both Cornell and Amherst by five goals. Russell Thompson played fine hockey all season and was a very capable leader.

One game was played before the Christmas vacation which resulted in a 8-0 victory over Middlebury. Lack of practice made the game rather slow. The strong Boston University team met a 2-0 defeat in a fast and exciting game. The Buff and Blue showed great improvement and worked every minute of the game. The next night the team went to Buffalo and met the experienced Nichols team. The game ended in a 2-2 tie after a ten minute over-time period.

In the next game the Mass. Aggies were turned back 5-0. The second team got in the game and showed up very well. After being behind 2-0 for the first two periods in the M. I. T. game, the Hamilton skaters tied the score at the end of the game. In the over-time period the visitors managed to push one more counter through for a win. It was a hard game to lose.

The alumni game was played in connection with the winter carnival. The game finished in a 2-1 victory for the varsity after many falls and bumps. The Buff and Blue lost 6-2 to Harvard in a fast contest on artificial ice. H. Valentine played a particularly good game, making both of the Hamilton scores. Clarkson was defeated 9-0 in a slow game played on very soft ice. In the Amherst game the team outskated their opponents at every turn and won 7-2. The Amherst skaters were at the disadvantage of not having been on the ice for some time.

Playing on exceptionally soft ice, the R. P. I. team was beaten 5-1 in four periods of slow hockey. R. P. I. was on the defense most of the game. Hamilton lost to Princeton in a game marked by the fast attack and close defensive work of the Princeton team. It was the only game all season in which the Buff and Blue failed to score. Cornell was beaten 5-0 in probably the fastest game of the schedule. Every man on the team played to the best of his ability. The last game of the season was with Union. The Hill skaters easily outclassed the Garnet for a 13-2 victory.

Freeman Warner Beardsley Ingalls Heyl Hassard Strong Briggs Gillespie Watters Scovel

Freshman Hockey

The freshman hockey team, as well as the varsity, had a successful season this year. They won half of their games and broke even with their opponents in total points scored.

The initial game was with the Clinton hockey team. The game was fast and marked by the superior teamwork of the Clinton team. In the next game, the Yahnundasis Juniors were beaten 2-1. The poor condition of the ice made the game slow and ragged. The Nichols School team defeated the slimers 4-1 in a speedy game. Hassard played well for the freshmen. After leading for the first two periods, in the second game with the Clinton team, the yearlings lost 3-4 when the Clinton skaters slipped the winning goal through in the last few minutes of play. The freshmen handed a 3-0 defeat to the Yahnundasis Juniors in their second tilt with the Utica team. Bald, Hassard, and Ingalls played the best game for the hill team. The season ended with a 1-0 victory over the undefeated Skaneateles team. The soft and wet condition of the ice made the game slow and caused a good deal of trouble for the goal guards.

The most promising freshmen on the squad were Bald, Hassard, Ingalls, Briggs, Gillespie, Beardsley, and Scovel.

Basketball Season Review

The schedule opened with the University of Maine at Clinton. The game was fast and our team made a good showing on their first appearance. In the last minute of play Hatch tied the score and then put Hamilton ahead for a win by scoring two free throws. Hobart was beaten in the second game 32-28.

The first game after the holiday period was with the fast R. P. I. team at Troy. Our team could not seem to find itself on the large court and lost by a 51-16 score. Union won the next game in a rather slow contest 38-17. Makofski played well for the visitors as did Hatch for the home team. St. Stephens nosed the Buff and Blue out of an apparent victory in the houseparty game by a 41-40 score.

The team made a New England trip playing Williams, Trinity, Wesleyan, and Amherst. At Williams, Hamilton was behind at half time by two points but took the lead until the last quarter when the Williams team scored ten points and won by a 44-29 count. Trinity was defeated in the next game 31-25. The whole team worked together and Rowley starred for Hamilton. Wesleyan took the third game by a large margin, the Hamilton team not being able to get going until the second half when the lead, already against them, was too much to make up. A slow game was played with Amherst due to the fact that our team had played for three nights before and was completely tired out. Amherst won 35-28.

St. Lawrence won the next game 47-22. From the first whistle the St. Lawrence team kept up their whirlwind attack and chalked up twenty points before the Buff and Blue was able to make a single tally. Colgate won their first game with Hamilton by six points after trailing by fifteen points in the first part of the game. The Buff and Blue outplayed the Maroon and no doubt would have won had not Howk and Esch been put out of the game on personal fouls. Hamilton dropped the following game by a 37-19 score to Rochester. Rochester led from the start and was able to maintain this lead throughout the game. Hatch was put out on personal fouls which weakened the team a good deal. Union won from Hamilton on their own court 41-15 in a ragged exhibition. Hatch again was the outstanding player for the Hill team. The final game of the season was with Colgate at Hamilton. Colgate won 47-29 and was not as hard pressed as it was in its first encounter with the Buff and Blue.

Freshman Basketball

The Freshman class took a good deal of interest in basketball this year. Two freshmen played varsity basketball and about twenty others were out for the freshman team.

The most promising candidates on the squad were Fitzgerald, Leich, Pierce, Searles, Donnelly, and Jewell. Stackhouse was elected captain early in the season but became ineligible after the first term, Pierce being elected Captain in his place.

The first game was with the Oswego Normal. The freshmen were outweighed and outplayed by their opponents and lost 27-13. The slimers played particularly well in the Oriskany Falls and Little Falls games. Donnelly netted eight field goals in the Oriskany game. The Utica School of Commerce defeated the yearlings in a slow game at Clinton by a 19-10 score. In the Little Falls game the freshmen were leading until the last few minutes of play when the Falls team scored several points and won by a single basket.

The New Hartford High School won from the first year men in a fast game at New Hartford. Not until the second half were the freshmen able to get going, when they played even with their opponents, but lost 22-17.

In spite of the setback, the Buff and Blue has excellent prospects with a veteran foils squad and the épeé and sabre departments improving steadily. Packer, Scott, and Kittell handle the foils; Gregory and Scovel the épeé; and Michels and Kutz the sabre.

The team will meet Syracuse at Clinton, and Pennsylvania at Clinton. Then, on April 2 and 3, those members of the team qualifying for the intercollegiates will take part in the great fencing meet in New York City.

Hamilton closed its fifth season of intercollegiate soccer with but one victory out of seven contests. However, this does by no means show the true worth of the team, for those combinations which opposed the Buff and Blue were among the best in the east. The team was badly handicapped by the loss of several veterans by graduation, and it was not until late in the season that the Hamilton eleven got under way—too late, however, to repair the earlier defeats.

No. 1. (less) Mollie's signature. This distressing scrawl comes at the end of a white piece of paper in a blue envelope. It spells, as often as not, D-I-S-A-S-T-E-R. You get the idea. Perhaps it's just a warning: "Please watch your apples, Mr.....". Or perhaps it's more serious: "Snap out of it, my dear Mr. ....., and in addition, please drop into the presidential sanctum soon when you have time." And later, "we are sorry to inform you that for disciplinary measures.....your son....." This one goes home. Prex went off on a jaunt to California last winter, and Molly ran the college so efficiently that no one knew he had been away. System. Efficiency. Statistics. How we love and appreciate them all!

No. 2. A submissive slimer. Each freshman class that enters gets bigger and fresher. This year's is the worst. A freshman who will work these days is as evanescent as the teeth of the well known Rhode Island Red. They grow on trees, two boughs away from the golden apples. As a matter of fact, this picture had to be taken by stalking methods: the slimer kicked because it's aggravating to have been recorded as engaged in manual labor. Note the slow pace: the runners in this outfit are confined to the sleds.

No. 3. "Bibbs." Highly appreciated. Bibbsamaniac —on books. He presides over his files with the sheer delight of a high-class manicurist. He thought that not enough men appreciated 'em so he started a private little course of his own—no cuts given—one hour a week—no credit—etc., etc., but he himself is still the perfect smasher of other people's debate arguments; of course, he can wallop yours in just the same way for somebody else, but that doesn't make any difference. Bibbs has likewise secured an endless amount of miscellaneous and pleasant knowledge: how many pancakes Peter the Great could consume for breakfast, et cetera. Dictionaries: reference books: multifarious magazines: everything perfect. Bibbs is always busy, but not too busy.. ....He get's the official wreath for this page.

Resentments

Protest No. 1: Waiting at Merz!. This is the discouraging den where you doze for three hours at a stretch, at the end of which time you are assaulted by being asked if your order has been taken! The Herr, with his assistant, Head Waiter Raynor, tells you not to lean back in the chairs, but how can you sleep on the table? The latest addition to the amusement section is a deck of cards with which you are to amuse yourself while the hen is being hatched that in later years is to lay the egg for your omelet—you know, the one that you just ordered.

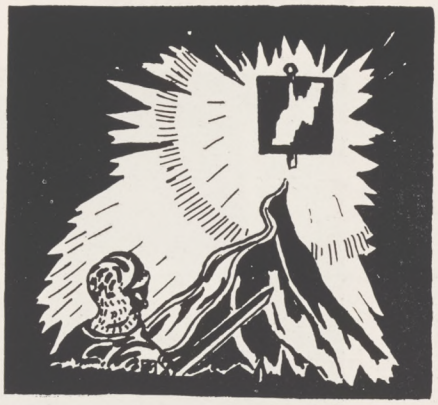
Patronized largely by Chi Psis, of whom Gil Sessions is the consumingest customer. Gil's sessions with Frankie Curran in The Long Ago were famous for deciding on Nothing in the Longest Possible Time.

Protest No. 2: Typical relic. The stone age seems to be temporarily abated, but there are still examples of These Things left. Departing classes have taken it out on the College by leaving furniture of the, say, '67 period on the campus. No, we don't know why, either; no one has ever been seen to sit down in one, even as a last house-party resort. But they're not bad, if you're really hard and are used to sleeping in gutters. Even the old grads dodge them when they come back; they ought to know, they put them there.

They are sometimes used as bath-tubs by shallow-minded birds.

Protest No. 3: Rocks' Trips. Ahoy for the dinosaur teeth!. "Ah, yes, gentlemen, this is nothing less than a billingsella coloradoensis acuminata!" Darned interesting, what?? And to think that it all took place in the ordofishan period! What, Rocks says five bucks for a trilobite?—we eat in Little Falls!

As a matter of fact, Rocks merely needs the exercise, and uses his classes for company. But it's tough on the boys who can't run. "HEY! ROCKS! Slow up!" Rocks makes Nurmi look as if Paavo were thrown into reverse.



The Quest of the Golden Key

"Oh, mither, mither! To whence and from whither
Is all of these knight-boys here?"
"Oh, they oft wander down to Hamil Town,
To fight every fall of the year
In a current event or a tournament
On the B.S. or A.B. course,
Or (what is hotter) to cling to their mater
As well as they're able or worse."

"And what is the names of some of the games
They play at with one anither?
Do they handle a sword, or a paddle board?
Now tell me, my ain sweet mither."
"Now some risk their pate in the Game of the Skate,
(I'll tell thee the truth since ye ask it)
And there, child, again, is the auld game of tennis
And some play the Game of the Basket.
Some take a boot at the Ball of the Foot,
And some play the game of the tee.
And then there's a sport in Prexy's Court
Called Chasing the Golden Key."

"Now who is that knight, with his armor bright,
And his helmet of shining tin?"
"Oh, that is Sir Mott de la Whiskee Schott;
He keeps his training on gin."
"What sport plays he? The Chase of the Key?"
"Oh, you are a child right dumb!
You should know it's a fact (or—part fact) he's an actor
In 'The Curse of the Demon Rum.' "

"And who is the guy with the duskey eye
Who walks with draggin' feet?"
"Oh, he is Sir Bevin de Warsitee Lleven.
(Who mentioned a moral defeat?)
"And who is the lanky gazook with the cranky Expression all over his face?"
"Oh, that is Sir Deal. D-isplayed on his shield
Are the words 'Who trumped My Ace?' "
"And who's the absurd-looking goggle-eyed bird looking Over the merry scene?"
"Oh, he's a professor—one of the lesser Instructors in 'Using the Bean.' "

"But, mither, you told of a Key of Gold,
And a chasing game they play.
Now give me a sight of the kind of knight
That spends his time that way."
"What? You want to see—Not a knight of the key!
Well, you are an ignorant dear!
A knight of the key! Why,—I'm damned if I see why!
Gowan! Chase yourself out of here!"

The Hamiltonian

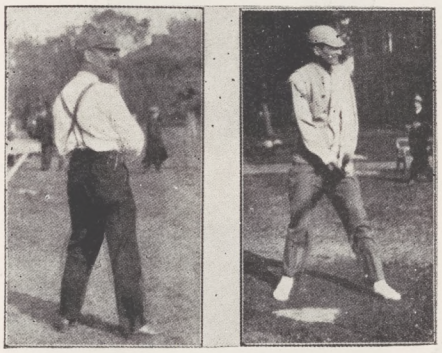
A Page of Traditions

Old Prex: Once a year, in the fall, when the Trustees come to morning chapel, the slimers prick up their ears and wake up as Old Prex comes into his own again in the place that he loves. He is the finest tradition of all, and he will live the longest in Hamilton's history, as a builder of the College, and a teacher of its men. His power was personal, direct and forceful. And as short a time ago as ten years, they said of him in the Hamiltonian:

"Omnis orbis est in partes tres divisa: primus, Stryker; secundus, Stryker; tertius, Stryker!"

'Way back in the days when men were men on College Hill, and the women in Clinton were, to speak classically, God-knows-what....

Even then, as the most uninitiated can see, our distinguished and stately predecessors were developing themselves in the gentle art of cracking the Enemy's pate on the Chapel steps. N.B. canes, cigars, stove lids and, as usual, the sophomores in full flight. They had started that even then.

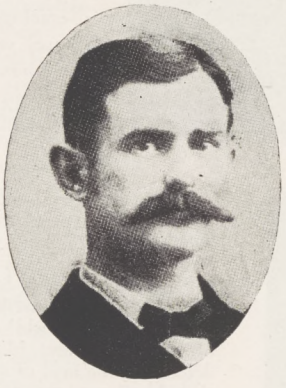


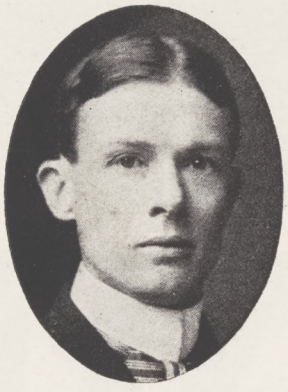
Well, well! Still another treat of the old days that has slipped past: the day of days in the spring time when Pills (left) warmed up his old south paw to sling over a few hot ones to the Seniors in the annual Faculty-Senior ball game. And Brownie swung his terrible bat to smack a binomial theorem into left field! And these are only two of the nine Great Minds who made a yearly descent to the field of sport: Did you know that "Chubby" used to stand up on a soap box for three innings per game and twist them over for strike-outs? And that "Trot" Chase was good for one peg a year from third base over to first? And that Big League scouts used to sit on the bench every year and try to sign up Cal Lewis after the game?

Paddle Day: and here is the last of the uncouth entertainments of the more vulgar hours that have disappeared.....the little party after which every man could say, with Ezra Pound (who, by the way, probably got his inspiration here):

An ague hath my ham—
Loud sing—goodness gracious!

How Many of Them Can You Identify ?





DELTA UPSILON LODGE

This is the dive where "the worms crawl in, and the worms crawl out," feverishly chased by purple snakes. Home brew explosions take place constantly in the cellar—hence dilapidated look. During house-parties, the W.C.T. U. of Clinton makes an annual effort to get it closed up. This picture was taken one day after the bottles had been cleared away. They call it an "Open Society," or something like that, but it's the only place that keeps bars over the windows on the first floor. In short, nothing to boast about since Bill Shepp graduated, many, many years ago.

SIGMA PHI PLACE

Here in their imposing castle, the Sigs view the affairs of the vulgar world with a tolerant eye. With the departure of the notorious H. "Link" Lent, and the enforcement of the 18th amendment, everything is perfectly orderly here now. The Sigs have a monument in front of their Hall—not seen in this picture—to commemorate the memory of Fowler, and the soon-to-be-alumnus, Yates. Hereafter there is nothing in sight for the boys except tradition. Gillespie and Sayres keep their outlawed Ford out in back, away from the faculty eye. The home of the cultured Mr. Bingham, and also that jolly old top(er), the Great Charley Pee-rye. The Sig freshmen get dinked out purposely in order not to be flunked.

THETA DELTA CHI HOUSE

The Theta Delts will turn in their charter after the last Thompson (i.e., from Brooklyn) graduates. Feverish activity of construction reigned all summer over on the N.E. corner of the campus, after the N. Y. State Health Society condemned the old house when it was learned that Dick Thompson had finally lived in ALL the rooms at one time or another. Alex Woollcott donated a piano, and Gigi some advice. "Burly" Queens receive most of the attention of the crowd, who annually charter the front boxes at the Colonial. From the outside looking in, the new house—as you will see—is darned nice. From the inside looking out, it is even better.

Prophets Without Honor

Copyright 1924, Vanity Fair

Alex deserves first place in our list of Famous Prophets because he is the sole dramatic critic in the world who can review a play before he sees it. His remarkable prescient powers went wrong last winter for the first time however when he compared the three corporals of What Price Glory to the chorus of Oedipus Rex! After seeing Alex as an actor in the Charlatan kerosene circuit way back in the '09 period, friends interested in his welfare urged him to become a critic. A year ago Alex was honored by his proud Alma Mater with the Débris of Litt.D., (i. e., Literally Demoralized.) Became famous early in life because he is easy to caricature.

Johnny struggled hard in early life, but couldn't manage to become famous until he married Peggy Wood. Freddy Benson, who hadn't heard of him since he left College until his marriage, was glad to get track of him again: Johnny still owes him $9.75 for four years of trunk transportation. His famous book In America—is a splendid exhibition of the practical use of material picked up from life in Alpha Delta Phi Hall. When Peggy married him, she told newspaper reporters that she didn't mind his looks because "he has such a divinely poetic soul." The appreciative Johnny responded by quitting his job with the Brooklyn Eagle.

Although one of our literati, Ezra was never known to Hamilton men until he broke out this year in the Royal Gaboon. Despite the fact that he has appeared in that publication, his books may be read safely by the most innocent child. His poems are largely translations from the Chinese, although Cal has been known to observe that he has missed some of the subtelty of the eastern language. The boys playfully egged him on in College by giving him hen-fruit shampoos, producing hair which the owner has been unable to cut in the last twenty years. Ranks as a member of the Elihu-Alex-Ezra triumvirate, or, Hamilton's Greatest.

The sensational novel Flaming Youth has been blamed on Sam, but collegiate evidence refutes this: his house-party record while here stands unblemished. He now spends his odd hours picking up dirt about patent medicine companies and having it printed in Collier's. College detectives report that Sam hasn't been seen on the Campus since the eventful day when he stormed out of the alumni luncheon after resenting Old Prex' remarks on the quality of the seventy-five cent novel. Lives near Auburn now in order to be in the proximity of his old classmates. He was a hot tennis player in College, and has continued to make a good deal of racquet since....

General Association of Undergraduate Activities

The Executive Council, the ruling body of the General Association of Undergraduate Activities, is composed of nine men elected by popular vote of the three upper classes. Three of these men are elected each year from the junior class, and hold office for one year. The other six are nominated by the Council, three of them being members of the faculty, and three being alumni.

All undergraduate activities come under the supervision of this Council. It is this body which approves the various schedules for the athletic and other organizations made up of students. Managers, upon the recommendation of retiring managers, are appointed by the Council. The awarding of letters and class numerals also falls under the supervision of the Executive Council.

The 1924-1925 Executive Council was composed of the following men:

From the Faculty: Dean Saunders, Professor Prettyman, and Professor Carruth.

From the Alumni: Messrs. Sherman, '04; Fraser, '08; and Rudd, '21.

From the Student Body: Hatch, Hays and Towne from the Class of 1925.

Payne, Stanley and Robson from the Class of 1926.

The Honor Court

The Honor Court is composed entirely of students: namely, two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman. The members of the three lower classes are elected at the last regular college meeting of the year. Both juniors serve for two years. One of them is elected president. The freshman member is selected by the Court soon after the opening of college.

The Court investigates violations of the honor system in connection with examinations, the Library, and theme work. Upon a five-sixth's vote for conviction, the guilty one is either suspended or expelled from college. The decision is announced to the entire college body.

The Upperclassman Council

Previous to the abolition of "horsing" the sole purpose of the Upperclassman Council was to supervise discipline among the freshmen. Since this custom has disappeared from the Hill, the Council has assumed new responsibilities. All the underclassman activities, such as class rows and banquets, are supervised by this group. It also plays the role of Sherlock Holmes in the case of occasional violations not under the surveillance of the Honor Court. This Council is comprised of the members of Pentagon, the president of the senior class, and two other seniors selected by their class, the president of the junior class, and another junior chosen by his class at the beginning of the fall term. The body selects a chairman with power to summon a meeting whenever necessary. In its new capacity, this council is recognized as holding a more important position on the campus than it did in former times. Its status has been decidedly elevated by virtue of its more serious tendency.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council is composed of one representative from each of the fraternities on the Hill. This group meets whenever it is necessary to talk over the problems that come up during the year, and which could only be handled by such a body. At the meetings the men are free to offer suggestions or criticism of questions that arise concerning the fraternities as a whole. By thus getting the opinion of the different crowds, the Council is able to act with the backing of all. The influence of the Council is first felt in the matter of rushing. Without some definite standards this custom would be likely to degenerate; but thanks to the Interfraternity Council we enjoy the best set of rules about this that can be formulated for the interests of all. In performing this function the Council plays a role that is not only most helpful but is decidedly necessary, for it also takes care of the enforcement of these important rules. There is still another duty of the Council—that of taking care of problems of Houseparty and Carnival. "To be or not to be; that is the question" that is decided each year. In this way, and others, the Council plays an active part in the college life.

Was Los

In the spring of 1915, six members of the Class of 1916 founded WAS LOS, which has become the Junior Honorary Society. Its purpose is to promote good fellowship and friendship among the members of the Junior Class. Regardless of fraternity affiliations, six sophomores are chosen late every spring by virtue of their campus activities, character and athletic achievement. The custom is for the new members to wear peculiar and weird costumes to Chapel on "Moving Up" day. After initiation the new members don a buff and blue cap, marked with the words "Was Los," which distinguishes them on the campus. The insignia of the society is a small gold triangle with the words WAS LOS and the Class numerals engraved on it.

The function of "Was Los" is to act in an advisory capacity to the Freshman Class and also to render services in distributing the Freshman Handbook and in other minor duties.

In the days immediately after Easter Vacation, strange looking individuals are seen running about the Campus wearing baby-caps, dragging wagons, and climbing trees to the strains of Yankee Doodle. Two freshmen are chosen from each of six of the national fraternities and one from the seventh by the outgoing members of the Club.

Managers' Club

Plans are now well under way for the formation of a new Hamilton College organization, to include all the managers and assistant managers of the various activities. The purpose of the Managers' Club is to promote co-operation and general good feeling among the different branches of undergraduate activity.

It has not been decided whether or not the new organization would have a definite connection with the D. A. M. Club, but plans have been made to hold an election of officers and map out the work of the season at the earliest date.

It is felt that the new association will be a material aid in scheduling athletic events. It is planned to hold frequent meetings for the discussion of athletic problems, as well as for social get-togethers, with a banquet in Utica at the end of the season.

This year the Bible Discussion Groups under the leadership of E. C. Brink, '27 and Wilfred T. Packer '25 have been largely attended. The Entertainment Committee, headed by R. E. Thompson, '25, has brought some of the outstanding moving picture productions of the year to the Saturday evening shows in Commons Hall. The cabinet secured Mr. Gilbert Lovell, a teacher in the Christian Schools of China to come to Hamilton to aid students in choosing a vocation. The reception for the entering class was held in Silliman Hall on September 25, 1924.

During the spring a series of lectures is to be given by members of the faculty.

JUNIOR CARNIVAL WEEK

Junior Winter Carnival Committee

To continue its originality, the class of 1926 "fecit periculum." It boldly deviated from the time-worn custom, and tried an experiment. It held a carnival..... hence the change of the name of the committee. The college welcomed the novelty: the bright lights that romantically lighted up the Russell Sage building were only one indication of the brilliant success achieved by this innovation.

The carnival was to have occupied two days, but the famous snow storm of January 30 prevented this. On Saturday, January 31, in the morning, coasting, skating and skiing were indulged in by some couples. At two o'clock in the afternoon, the guests were treated to an exciting game of basketball between the varsity team and that of St. Stephens. After this, there was a Musical Club concert in the Hall of Commons. Tea dances, a D. T. Club dance, and the Sophomore Hop then furnished dancing for several hours. At night there was a hockey game between the varsity team and a group of stellar alumni players.

Then the Junior Carnival began: the hockey building picturesquely decorated and illuminated by multicolored lights. Fancy skating and a brass band were some of the interesting features. As an appropriate end to the night's festivities, dances were held at the fraternity houses. Great credit is due to Chairman Robson and his committee for the success of Hamilton's first Winter Carnival. Although handicapped on Friday by the huge snow drifts that cut off all communication with the outer world, the Carnival was unanimously decreed a success. Next year it is planned to elaborate the program somewhat, by the construction of a toboggan slide and a ski jump.

Intercollegiate Debate

Debating attracts a large number of men at Hamilton. The purpose of the system has been to give a large number of men the practice and experience of debating, rather than to win every debate. The debate squad is chosen by the debate council consisting of the debate captain and selected faculty members. After the teams are chosen, the members select their own material and issues, and prepare their own speeches without other faculty supervision than advice and criticism. One man seldom takes part in more than a single debate each season. Despite the fact that our system differs radically from the systems employed in other colleges, Hamilton has long been known for its high grade of debating.

DEBATE SCHEDULE 1924-1925

Dec. 12, 1924 Yale vs. Hamilton at New Haven, Ct. Hamilton won by 2-1 decision.

In the year 1922, the Hamilton Chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, the national forensic society was established here. To be eligible for membership, a man must speak in one or more intercollegiate debates. The insignia of the society is a gold charm with the raised letters "Delta Sigma Rho" on the face.

The Hamiltonian

The Hamiltonian is the college annual, published in the spring of each year by the Junior Class. The Hamiltonian contains in graphic form a resumé of the year's activities on the Hill, along with a certain amount of personal badinage of rather local interest. Increased cost of publication has necessitated a strict reduction in the budget of the Hamiltonian. The positions of Editor-in-Chief, Business Manager, and Photographer are chosen as the result of a competition open to Sophomores, which lasts from the opening of college until the first of May.

Hamilton Life

Hamilton Life is the weekly newspaper of the College. Life serves not only as a newspaper for the undergraduates, containing in its columns accounts of local and intercollegiate activities, but it also takes the place of an alumni publication. An evidence of its popularity with the Alumni is shown by its large graduate circulation. Accounts of games, meets, debates, and all other undergraduate activities, alumni notes, editorials, and a column called "Carpe Diem" compose the pages of Hamilton Life.

Membership on the Board is obtained by competition, either in freshman or sophomore year. Write-ups are assigned by the editor-in-chief once a week, and the best stories submitted on the assignments are printed in Life. The competitors having the largest number of words at the close of the competition are elected reporters. The editor-in-chief is chosen from the junior members of the staff by election after the Easter vacation. The outgoing editor makes the nominations for this position on the basis of quality of work done by the competitors in editing Life.

The paper is financed by advertisement. This department is in the hands of a business manager and assistant manager who win their positions by competition in securing paid advertisements.

Royal Gaboon

The wit of the College finds expression in the Royal Gaboon, a Hamilton College publication which appears on the Hill six times during the college year. Events which bring forth the Gaboon and supply suggestions for jokes and pictures are Fall House-party, Christmas, Winter Carnival, Easter Vacation, Spring Party and Commencement. The Gaboon takes a place among the leading college humorous publications of the country.

Undergraduates are elected to the board who have shown ability to produce material worthy of publication, either drawings or jokes. Elections for the position of Editor-in-Chief and Art Editor are held in the spring. The financial department of the paper is conducted by a Business Manager, Circulation Manager, Advertising Manager, and Assistant Circulation Manager. These positions are won through competition among members of the Sophomore Class. Hamilton College has the distinction of being the smallest college in the country to support a humorous magazine.

Press Board

The purpose of the Press Board is the advertisement of Hamilton College. Its members send news of intercollegiate contests in which the College takes part, undergraduate activities of all kinds, and accomplishments of individual students to the leading newspapers of the State. This year, more than before, the Press Board is emphasizing features of college life apart from athletics, features crowded into the background in the past, but in which many people are interested and by whose publicity the College is benefited.

The Press Board sends write-ups to state newspapers in weekly letters written by its members. Accounts of Hamilton College activities thus appear in the press throughout the state. The Board has listed the home newspaper of each student. When a man receives a college honor or distinguishes himself in some branch of undergraduate activities, a special write up is sent in a letter to the paper in his city. Immediately after a football game, track meet, or other intercollegiate contest, the Board reports the result to the leading newspapers of the East. College representatives of all kinds receive publicity in the cities they visit on trips through the advance write-ups and feature stories sent to the press of those cities.

Charlatan Review

With eight years of work behind them, the Charlatans, the Dramatic Club of Hamilton College, are working this season to earn the reputation of having the best type of Little Theater group to be found in collegiate circles. Their aim is not only to produce plays that entertain, but also to help those students who have natural histrionic ability to build up their latent talent.

It has always been the aim of the Charlatans to produce the latest and best plays that were available for the use of amateurs. Their ambition was realized this past season when, thru the kindness of Alexander Woollcott '09, Dramatic Critic of the New York Evening Sun, they obtained the rights to produce "Outward Bound," a drama in three acts by Sutton Vane, which enjoyed a long run on Broadway during the 1923-24 season. The Charlatans were the first to put this play on the road. Last season "The Faithful," a Japanese tragedy by John Masefield, was presented with marked success. The sets used in this play, while beautiful and artistic, showed the results of close study of the modern trend in stage setting. All the parts in the plays are taken by undergraduates. The problem of presenting men in women's roles has been overcome to a great extent by costuming and close attention to the necessity of imitating feminine mannerisms.

Unlike many organizations of this type, the casting is not done from former members of the club, but from the student body as a whole, based upon a competitive system. The members of the Charlatans are chosen by a committee composed of the coach and of a few of the other members of the faculty. Positions on the business staff and on the stage corps are awarded on a competitive basis. More credit is probably due to Professor Paul A. Fancher, coach of the organization, than to anyone else for the continued success of the Charlatans.

The plan originated last year to have a Workshop in connection with the Charlatans has been furthered this year by the announcement that soon after the beginning of the second semester, work would be started by this group either on some plays written by the students of the college, or some modern plays. Membership in this Workshop will be limited to members of the Charlatans who are especially interested in the continuance of dramatic work as a career.
